PLENTY OF REPUBLICAN BOODLE.

Reed Returned to Congress By Nearly Double the Majority He Received Be-fore—Milliken Re-Elected.

PORTLAND, Me., September 8 .- [Special.]-Speaker Reed is re-elected by the largest plurality ever given a candidate in this district. mplete returns from all but five towns give 16,097 and Frank 11,339. Mr. has received fewer votes he received in 1888, but the great falling off of the democratic vote, which is explained later on in these dispatches, has given him a great majority. The indications are that his plurality will be between 4,600 and

It is a great victory for Mr. Reed, and one neither he nor his friends expected. Mr. Reed has secured this great majority by the most flagrant and open bribery of voters ever seen in this city. Perhaps the democrats would have done so too, if they had possessed

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS USED The managers were very bitter at the course of the party, in sending them into the fight against unlimited capital. Ever since Mr. Reed, private secretary, drew from a bank in this city, last Friday, many thousands of dollars in $1 and $2 bills, the air has been full PURCHASING THE VOTERS. The seventh ward of this city comprises the fashionable residence district. It was in this ward that the most open buying of votes took place. The election in this ward took place in schoolhouse and from 10 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m. business was brisk.

HE PLAYED HIS GAME OPENLY. Thomas Heffon was the most conspicuo figure for the republicans. His method of ocedure was simple. He would stand at procedure was simple. He would stand at the door till a voter appeared whom he thought purchasable. Then he would invite him into an anteroom which the janitor had reserved for him, and in a few minutes they would The voter was always in front, and invariably carried a republican ballot. Heffon would keep clear behind him, and sometime would push the man along, so eager was he to get him to the polls.

A DOLLAR FOR A VOTE. While the voter was waiting at the stand to cast his ballot, Heffon stood by him and took something from his pocket wrapped in a piece of a ballot. Several of the pieces he used are now in the possession of a reporter. One of them has been so firmly held in the hand that the imprint of a coin about the size of a silver dollar is plainly As the voter came out after voting, Heffon would vociferously shake hands with him, and force the piece of paper and its contents into his hands. The would then put the paper into his pocket with-out looking at it and hurry off.

In ward three similar proceedings took place,

Assistant Postmaster Leroy Sanborn and Charles A. Slowman took twenty-three men into a dark passage near the voting place. All of the men voted the republican ticket. The names and addresses of these men can be

In wards five and six less money was spent The whole story will be before the committee on privileges and election of the next house of representatives. Reports from Biddeford and

One man fell dead in the second ward of this city while engaged in a heated discussion about these practices against which he was protest ing. All the republican state and county ticket is elected. One democratic representative in this city gets through with a plurality of nine.

The Latest Returns.

PORTLAND, Me., September 8.—Portland gives Burleigh, 3,673; Thompson, 2,146; Clark, 158; scattering, 36; Reed, 3,751; Frank, 2,118; scattering, 118. Reed's plurality 1,563, the largest ever given for a member of this district. One republican representative to the legislature, Cunningham, is defeated, Guptill, democrat, winning by 9 votes.

Two hundred and ten towns give Burleigh, 40,385; Thompson, 27,427; Clark, 861; scattering, 956. The same towns in 1888 gave a republican vote of 59,350; democratic, 37,244; prohibition, 1,276; scattering, 1,089; republican's plurality 13,508, against 13,007; republican gain, 501.

If the towns to hear from fall off in the same proportion, the final vote should stand: Republican, about 64,500; democratic, 45,500; scattering, 3,000; total 113,000. ng, 3,000; total 113,000. In 1886, the last of year, the vote stood: Republican, 68,991; dem-mocratic, 55,289; prohibition, 3,868; scattering, 23; republican plurality, 13,702. This year the plurality will be about 19,000, a gain of 5,300 and 1,000 ahead of the presidential year, The prohibition vote comes united with scat-tering or omitted, so it is classed as scattering, tering or omitted, so it is classed as scattering, and may be considerably larger.

Members of congress are all re-elected by large majorities, Reed's being doubled. The county officers are mostly republican. The senators are probably all republicans, as in the last legislature, and the representatives stand full as strongly republican—namely, 125 republican to 26 democratic.

SENDING THE NEWS TO BENNY. Augusta, Me., September 8.—Chairman fanley, of the republican state committee, sent at midnight the following dispatch to

President Harrison: President Harrison:

Maine gives the largest republican majority known in an off year since 1806, and a larger majority than given in any presidential contest since 1808, with the single exception of 1884 and 1888. Governor Burleigh is re-elected by the largest majority he ever received, exceeding 4.500. Representatives Dingley, Boutelle and Milliken are re-elected by majorities ranging from 3,000 to 5,000. The Pine Tree state endorses your administration, and remains firm in its advocacy of protection to American industry and American labor.

Wise Opens His Campaign.

RICHMOND, Va., September 8.—[Special.]— Hon. George D. Wise formally opened his campaign for congress today when he and Colonel Breckinridge, of Kentucky, addressed an immense audience at Chesterfield courthonse. Tonight the distinguished Kentuckian spoke before the Powhattan club, at the Richmond theater. The building was packed to its utmost capacity, and the event was a redletter one of the campaign. The speech of Colonel Breckinridge was a grand effort, and awakened great enthusiasm. He received an tion on his appearance, and was applauded to the echo.

North Carolina Politics RALEIGH, N. C., September 8.—[Special.]—Chairman E. C. Smith, of the democratic state executive committee, returned today from Washington city. As regards the editorial attack on Senator Vance by Colonel Polk, it is stated this evening that there will be no further attacks of that character in the official organ of the Farmers' Alliance.

THERE WERE ONLY TEN, But They Proved Too Much for the Till-

SPARTANBURG, S. C., September 8.-[Special.]—A little excitement was anticipated in the county convention held here today, as it was overwhelmingly for Tillman; but the result was proved a boomerang in the ranks of the victors. Dr. Bob Smith, Tillmanite candidate for congress, and acknowledged politi-cal boss of this section, was branded to his face as a contemptible wriggler who, when forced to a corner, would eat his own words, and he sat and took his chastisement as tamely as any sucking dove. In consequence, the straight-out faction is howling itself deaf over what it regards as a victorious defeat. The business for the day was the election of delegates to the state connention, which is shortly to nominate a state ticket.

An incidental feature was the endorsement of the delegates formerly elected to determine the manner of the congressional election, as there was some doubt as to the validity of their first election. The race for congress is a hot and bitter one. Five candidates are in the field, three for and two against Tillman. Three of these were present—Smith, Duncan and Shell. Only one, Smith, was a delegate. When the convention was called to order at As only ten of these were in their seats. As only ten of these were straightouts, no excitement was anticipated. The county chairman was absent on account of sickness, and Dr. R. M. Smith was sent to the chair. Dr. Lancaster moved to nominate by ballot which was carried and afterwards defeated

Mr. Oliver nominated the following ticket, and Mr. Hettel moved that each delegate express himself concerning Tillman and the farmers' movement. All having passed the crucial test of political soundness, they were elected by acclamation. The former election of congressional delegates was ratified.

Mr. Hattel introduced a resolution endorsing Captain E. C. Bacon for state treasurer and Captain H. L. Farley for adjutant general.

And now the trouble began.

J. T. Wood introduced a resolution to the effect that the convention should not support any man for congress who was a representative of, or was in any way connected with, a corporation, ring, clique or any monopoly what-

Dr. Smith, a candidate, vacated the chair in order to support the motion, making a speech of some length and bitterness. At its conclu-sion it was proposed to send for Congressional Candidate Duncan, who it is well known, represents the Richmond and Danville railroad, and allow him to defend himself, and Major and allow him to defend himself, and Major Duncan made a rousing speech which was well received by the audience.

Captain G. W. Shell, the author of the famous Shell manifesto, was present and was extended the courtesy of the floor. His remarks were of a personal nature and did not elicit much enthusiasm.

The motion was then tabled amid the wildest shouts from the crowd of spectators who had by this time filled the hall.

J. D. Leonard now came forward with a

J. D. Leonard now came forward with a proposition to establish a farmers' movement paper here, which should imbody the essence of Tillmanism reform and democracy. Dr. Smith supported it in a speech of some length, during the course of which he berated the newspapers of the state for the carcless and false manner in which they reported the speaker's remarks. Seeing William Jones, editor of The Spartanburg Herald, in the audience, he called upon him to explain an apparent misquotation in his last issue. Dr. Smith woke up the wrong passenger, and is now doubtless kicking himself with a vigor that is merciless. It seems that The Herald, in giving a synopsis of The Greenville News's report, said that Dr. Smith had "retched painfully" over some retractions which he had been forced to make, and it was this that he claimed was not in the first report. Mr. Jones said: J. D. Leonard now came forward with said:

"As to the right or propriety of this democratic county convention's establishing an organ to voice accurately the sentiments of Dr.
R. M. Smith, I have nothing to say. But the assertion that I have ever dishonestly or unfairly misrepresented him is false. I did not pretend to copy the article of The News in full. I had not space for it. The expression he complains of was not a quotation and was he complains of was not a quotation and was not worded as such. Whether he retched or not I do not know; but this I do know—that any man who can wriggle and squirm and take back and eat his words as Dr. Smith did without having the bellyache, has less moral sense and less regard for the truth than I gave Mr. Smith credit for. If I misrepresented him it was because Ithought he was a better and honester man than he proclaims himself today, and he is the only man I know who could go through such a performance without retching."

Mr. Jones spoke for half an hour and his remarks were scathing and pitiless. Dr. Smith was utterly crushed by the accusation and though a motion which he was supporting was before the house, he moved to adjourn as soon as Mr. Jones sat down.

The motion was carried amid the wildest cheers from the six or seven hundred specta-

TENNESSEE CONGRESSMEN. " Nominations Made and That Are to be Made. .

NASHVILLE, Tenn., September 8 .- [Special. The republicans of the fifth congressional district have nominated Hon. Peyton C. Smithson, of Lewisburg, Marshall county, to succeed Hon. James D. Richardson, the present incumbent, who is a democrat. The pro hibitionists today issued a call for a congressional convention to be held at Winchester September 25th. Mr. Richardson will, therefore, be opposed by two candidates.

There are now only two candidates for the There are now only two candidates for the democratic nomination for congress in the seventh district. These are Hon. W. C. Whitthorne, the present incumbent, and Colonel N. N. Cox. The convention will meet at Columbia on Wednesday next.

There is only one avowed democratic candidate—Hon. Joseph E. Washington, the present incumbent—for the nomination in the sixth district. The convention will meet at Nashville September 18th, and the republican convention for the same district will be held at Springfield on the same day.

Mississippi's Public Printing. Jackson, Miss., September 8.—[Special.]— The committee on printing today opposed bids for printing the convention journal, constitu-tion and ordinances. The bid of E. L. Mar-tin, of The New Mississippian, was accepted, the price being $2.25 per page; the number of copies to be printed 5,000.

Protests Against the Conger Bill. MONTGOMERY, Ala., September 8.—Telegrams have been sent to Alabama senators today urging every effort to defeat the Conger lard bill on the ground that it will be a calamity to the south. The price of seed has fallen 28 per cent already in consequence of the probability of its passage by congress.

Robert Garrett Very Ill. New York, September 8.—A cable dispatch to The Mail and Express says Robert Garrrett is very ill again with his old trouble at Aochen, Switzerland, where it has become necessary to hire a villa to care for him. Dr. Jacobi, Mrs. Garrett and Mrs. Garrett's father and brother, are with him.

Liverpool Buyers on Hand. New York, September 8.—There were eight or ten prominent English cotton buyers at the cotton exchange today. They had just arrived from Liverpool. Their main mission is to go south to look over the cotton crop prospects and to make contracts for cotton for future delivery.

AND A VERY BLACK EYE FOR BLAINE The Democrats Did Not Contribute Any Money for the Campaign, While the Republicans Had Barrels of It.

WASHINGTON, September 8 .- [Special.]-The news from Maine tonight that Speaker Reed has been re-elected to congress created no surprise. It was expected. His large ma-jority is due to the fact that while the republican organization in his district was aided financially from the outside, not a dollar of democratic money was sent into the district and very little was spent there. A democratic member of congress, who is very bitter against Reed, said tonight that he had gone around among the democratic members of the house s few weeks ago and asked each to subscribe $50 to a fund to be spent to defeat Reed's reelection. Not a single man would subscribe and the democratic congressional committee would not put up a dollar. However, that was because the committee has nothing. Chairman Flower had to put up the money to rent quarters, buy furniture and pay clerk hire. It seems that no money whatever can be raised. Neither the democratic congressmen nor outside democrats seemed disposed to subscribe to the fund, and the chances are that each dem ocratic candidate for congress this fall will have to hustle entirely for himself. They will get no aid from the committee. The refusal from the democratic members to subscribe funds to defeat Reed would seem that they care more for boodle than for party. As it is, Reed has an even larger majority than of two years ago and there is no chance of his being unseated, even though the next house should be largely democratic. His majority is too

WHAT HIS RE-ELECTION MEANS. The re-election of Reed by the largest majority he has ever received, means a defeat for Mr. Blaine, and means that, to a certain extent, the old Blaine crowd that has controlled the politics of Maine for years past, has been turned down. It's no secret that Blaine and Reed are enemies, and that Mr. Blaine would not have regretted Reed's defeat. It is also well known that neither Blaine nor any of his close political friends did a single thing to aid Mr. Reed in his contest. Indeed, Mr. Blaine did not even mention Reed in his recent speech in Maine, neither has he written a letter advocating Reed's re-election, although he took occasion to write to Ohio advising the republicans of that state to return KcKinley. He complimented Milliken in his recent speech, but not a word did he say about Reed, nor did he mention the work or reforms of the Maine tyrant. Every one knew what this neglect to speak of Reed meant. Blaine was opposed to the methods of his political rival and therefore opposed to his

Tonight Reed's friends here are enthusiastic They say he has buried Blaine politically and the next candidate Maine puts forward for the presidential nomination will be Thomas Brackett Reed, indeed Reed's success today means he is a candidate for the republican presidential nomination for 1892.

CLARKSON AS EDITOR. Senator Quay and his friends who recently purchased The Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph for the purpose of making it a Delamater organ, are endeavoring to secure "Headsman" Clarkson, ex-assistant postmaster general, as editor. It is understood, however, that Mr. Clarkson will not accept. He is after bigger game. He has hopes of becoming editor of The Chicago Tribune. It is understood that a syndicate of wealthy republicans has been formed for the purchase of that paper from Joseph Medill, its owner. Two million dollars have been put in the pool for that purpose. The Tribune has been shockingly heterodox on the question of the tariff and protection. It is inended, should the purchase be made, to make The Tribune an orthordox high tariff and protection organ. Postmaster General Wanamaker is said to be a heavy subscriber to the pool. Mr. Grimes has been requested by a number of members of the house to become a candidate for the clerkship, in the event that the next house is democratic. The salary is the same as that of a member, and it is a position generally sought after by ex-members. How ever, Georgia could not have both speaker and clerk, and Mr. Grimes will stand aside in the interest of Judge Crisp for speaker.

DENNING'S CONFIRMATION. Although many letters and telegrams from Augusta, protesting against Denning's confirmation as postmaster, have been received here within the past few days, Senator Colquitt has given up all hopes of defeating the confirmation. He said today he feared that Denning would be confirmed Wednesday or Thursday.

RALEIGH, N. C., September 8.—[Special.]— Under the act creating the commission to manage the world's Columbian exposition at Chicago, there is required to be a board of lady managers. These will be composed of two managers, with alternates, and its members will be appointed by the commissioner from the respective states. Colonel A. B. Andrews, one of the North Carolina commissioners, today appointed Mrs. George W. Kidder, of Wilmington, to this position. Colonel Andrews leaves tomorrow for Chicago to attend a very important meeting of the commission. This will close the site for the exposition, which is certain to be on the lake shore. Colonel Andrews says be yond question the exposition will be a grand one, and that everything is being done to insure a success in every particular

An Old Sporting Fellow.

Galveston, Tex., September 8.—Daniel O'Leary, whose record as a pedestrian was at one time unbroken by anyone in this or the old country, is at present in this city acting as book agent. While Dan has no intention of ever again plodding the padded circle, he is as sanguine and entertaining in his narratives of sporting affairs as ever. He still retains the handsome and costly medals and trophies won during his many successful contests.

Fining the Gamblers.

Jackson, Miss., September 8.—[Special.]—The mayor has been trying some parties arrested for gambling, the first one being convicted by a jury. The others plead guilty, and fines were imposed on Bill Miller for $650, Bill Albrecht $200, Josh Richards $200, Jose Simmons $60. In addition to fine and costs, ten days' imprisonment was imposed, which was suspended during future good behavior.

The Company Reorganized. RICHMOND, Va., September 8.—The Evening State Newspaper company has been reorganized as follows: William Ryan, president, vice Richard F. Bierne, believed to be hopelessly ill; W. W. Archer, vice president; E. B. Chesterman, secretary; John W. Price, treasurer—all practical newspaper men.

REED FOR PRESIDENT. POLITICS IN INDIANA.

IS WHAT THE RESULT OF THE MAINE THE COMING REPUBLICAN STATE ELECTION MEANS.

CONVENTION.

WAITING TO SEE WHAT IT WILL DO To Strengthen the Republican Party Which Has Been Weakened - The Democratic State Ticket a Strong One.

Indianapolis, Ind., September 8 .- [Special.] Both political parties and the Farmers'Alli-nce of Indiana are just now waiting to see what will be done by the republican state cor vention, which convenes in this city September 10th, to regain its position which has been so greatly weakened! by the administration's treatment of the old soldiers and its failure to furnish a treasury teat to every man who worked for Harrison in "the late unpleasantness." I do not believe the machinations of the republican congress has affected the vote in Indiana to any great extent. For perhaps there is not such a great proportion of the voters in any state in the union that believes that the means to accomplish political supremacy are justified by the ends sought, so long as a revolt may be tided ends sought, so long as a revolt may be tided over successfully.

No doubt the republican leaders in this state are now straining their endeavors to make the result of the convention as laudatory of the party and the administration as possible. It has many great breaches to bridge not only in personal fights, but in organized endeavor by different factions to show their strength in the state. The farmers must be taken care of. That fact is evident to all sides in the contest. The administration still controls the republican machine in the state, despite the reports that the president's choice for chairman of the state central committee, "Boss" Michener, would shortly enter upon various duties in Washington and direct Harrison's cause in Indiana as a dead letter. It is not dead, except in the eyes of those who blind themselves, and Mr. Michener is today exerting all his energies toward a vigorous Harrison campaign in the state to secure a solid delegation for the president in the next national republican convention. The only theory advanced against this is that the Gresham followers have secured control of the republican machine, in which there is not any truth. The Gresham men controlled the republican convention of Marion county about two months ago, and a few people claim that they are organizing, preparatory to presenting Gresham's name to the national convention, but many of Gresham's former most earnest supporters declare that he has ne intention of gresham's name to the national convention, but many of Gresham's former most earnest supporters declare that he has no intention of being a candidate. If their statements be true, then Governor Hovey is undoubtedly booming himself for vice president under a Gresham-boom bushel. In him it is plausible

Gresham-boom bushel. In him it is plausible to believe rises and sets the hope of Indiana's anti-Harrison republicans for a representation on the national ticket. Hovey was one of the most earnest Gresham supporters in the state. That his present mecca is the vice presidency of the United States is very evident. He is conceded by everybody to be a candidate for something. His work so far has been entirely national in its character—that of championing the cause of the old soldiers for service pensions. He figures that Harrison will be laid on the shelf early in the battle and the state of the control of Michigan, will throw the Indiana delegation in that direction. While he and Alger are thus united in the soldiers' cause to capture either the nomination for the presidency or the vicepresidency, one's success means the others death. Mr. Hovey believes that if Michigan is not given the big plum that state will rise up in arms against all western states and throw the first nomination east. Only a day or two ago, Hovey's private secretary asserted to your correspondent that James G. Blaine to row ago, Hovey's private secretary asserted to your correspondent that James G. Blaine would be the next republican nominee for president. If that be the case, the western mand the vice presidency. Hovey, of Indiana, is the only man in sight that would fill the requirements.

The above is the condition of Indiana politics as viewed nationally. Now the state can be considered locally as to its political com-plexion more advantageously. At present it is demanded that the republicans place a field for state officers. It is dubious if they can do this in the face of having so many sides endeavoring to show their strength to give them precedence in the campaign before the national convention. The democrats having no sore spots to heal, except in one instance placed a ticket in the field at its state con-vention, August 28th, of which the independ states, as well as the old soldiers, would de

ent papers said:
"Taken as a whole, the ticket is one of the "Taken as a whole, the neket is one of the strongest ever put up for public discussion and consideration in the state of Indiana." On that ticket is Claude Matthews, a farmer of clean character and great force, and whose nomination has done much to win the respect and, perhaps, the votes of the Farmers Alliance. As for the latter's force in the Alliance. As for the latter's force in the present campaign it cannot be measured with any degree of certainty, but that it is powerful and impends danger to both parties is so evident that the greatest attention is given it by both sides. It will encroach upon the strength of the democracy in the state and undoubtedly control legislation in the state, if, indeed, it does not give the republicans a majority in the legislature over the democrats. In any event it is conceded the farmers of Indiana will shape the legislation of the next assembly in Indiana.

the legislation of the next assembly in Indiana. The fact that the granger organizations will effect the democrats more than the republicans is due to the southern counties having been organized first. The democratic strength in the state lies in those counties. Many of the counties in the northern part, which are strongly republican, have no organizations at all. There are four organizations in the state—the Farmers' Alliance, the Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association, the Grange and the Patrons of Industry, all of which are pulling together with an aggregate memberthe legislation of the next assembly in Indiana pulling together with an aggregate membership of nearly 125,000. In several counties where both of the old parties have failed to place farmer candidates on the ticket, they have run independent caudidates.

THEY CLINCHED AND FELL. Society Young Man Calls Upon a Birm

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., September 8.—[Special.] Fred Church, editor and proprietor of The Sunday Graphic, was assaulted in his office today by Dan Kinnebrom, a prominent young society man. The men clinched and fell to the floor, and Church's right shoulder was broken. That was the only serious injury to either party. In his paper yesterday, Church published a story to the effect that Kinnebrom had been getting up germans and charging the young men who attended more than the actual expenses. Kinnebrom wrote a card of retracion and apology and took it to Church to sign. The latter refused, and the fight followed.

A Distillery Destroyed. LOUISVILLE, Ky., September 8.—The Roach grain distillery, at Uniontown, Ky., burned yesterday with several thousand gallons of whisky. Loss, $80,000; insured for $43,000. The fire is believed to have been incendiary. The distillery plant was recently purchased by the Mutual Distillery Company, an eastern concern, from John Roach for $100,000. The government warehouse was saved. government warehouse was saved.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., September 8.—[Special.]—James Marinatt, a Frenchman, met a horrible death near Buckside, fifteen miles from here, yesterday. He climbed to the top of a tree to gather wild grapes and losing his balance fell to the ground. Nearly every bone in his body was broken. Marinatt's family are on their way from France, but he will be buried before they get here.

ARRESTING THE WRECKERS. It Is Believed That Reed Is Aiding the Officers.

Albany, N. Y., September 8.—John Reed and John Kiernan, the former a Central-Hudson freight brakeman, and John Cordial, a freight conductor, are under arrest, charged with being concerned in the wrecking of the Montreal express, near Greenbush, last week. Reed was arrested first, and indications go to show that he made some disclosures which led to the arrest of the others. All were strikers and all Knights of Labor. Reed is given a rather bad character.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT AT WRECKING.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT AT WRECKING.

POUGHREEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 8.—A desperate attempt was made tonight to wreck the fast St. Louis and Chicago express, which leaves New York on the Central railroad at 8 p. m. The train was stopped for a danger signal south of Old Troy, which is 500 yards fouth of New Hamburgh drawbridge. Two minutes previous a flagman discovered several ties standing end ways in a culvert near Old Troy and when he took hold of one of them to remove it he was fired upon from the bushes on the east side of the track. Knowing that the fast express was nearly due he ran southward and set the danger signal, which stopped the train. The flagman said ties stuck up above the rails and would have certainly thrown the train from the track. The fast train was composed of seven or eight sleeping cars, all full, two ordinary passenger coaches and baggage car. There were eight ties on the up train track. There were also two ties placed along the side of the rail toward the south so as to ditch the train.

ACCIDENTS ON THE RAIL. ANOTHER ATTEMPT AT WRECKING.

ACCIDENTS ON THE RAIL. Two Trains Collide Near Lockport-An Accident on the Baltimore and Ohio. LOCKPORT, N. Y., September 8.-Five min utes past 4 o'clock this morning, two North Shore limited trains, one going east, the other west, collided with terrific force on the Cen tral track, near the station, in this city. Engine 692, of the train going east, was telescoped by engine 735, of the western train, and they now stand locked together, with their smoke-stacks nearly touching each other. By the force of the collision the tender of the east-bound train was forced back over half its length into Wagner buffet car 42, and Bag-gageman W. R. Fiedler, of New York city, was instantly killed. The tender of engine 735 was also driven in a like manner into the buffet car 419. The engineer of this engine-Edson Bradley, of Syracuse-sustained a compound fracture of both legs, and Fireman William Houston, also of Syracuse, received a bad flesh wound of one thigh and severe cuts on the head. No other injuries of any account are reported, although passengers on both trains were badly shocked by the force of the collision. As these trains do not stop at this station passengers were only saved by the square interlocking of the engines. Had the collision occurred but two or three rods to the east one train would have cut the other in two and the loss of life would have been appalling. The west-bound train is due here at 3:22 o'clock a. m. and was, therefore, over half an hour behind time. Their meeting place is Sanborn, twelve miles west of this city.

A Wreck on the Baltimore and Ohio. Pittsnung, September 8.—A special to The Chronicle-Telegraph from Wheeling says: About 1 o'clock this morning two east and west-bound freight trains met in a terrible collision, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, at Board-Tree tunnel, about and Onlo rairoad, at Board-Tree tunner, about thirty miles east of here. A wrecking train has been sent out. It is known that both en-gines and a dozen cars were entirely; destroyed, and the wreck took fire. Engineers Deminick Kelley and Charles Trickbrein and an unknown man, supposed to be a tramp, were al-most instantly killed. The fate of the firemen

RUBE BURROWS AGAIN.

He Successfully Eludes the Detectives and Escapes to His Old Haunts. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., September 8.—[Special.]—Agent Jackson, of the Southern Express Company, and Detective Stewart, of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, passed through here today on their return from Florage Louisville and Nashville railroad, passed through here today on their return from Florida, the pursuit of Rube Burrows having been abandoned in that state. The detective think that Burrows has quit his Florida haunts and will go back to his friends in Lamar county. Although the detectives were not inclined to talk, it is very evident they are much discouraged over the situation. The last trail of the robber was near Brewton, Ala., and doubtless he is now in the wilds of Lamar county, this state. It will take a regiment of soldiers to dislodge him from his lair in the mountain passes of that region.

A Birmingham City Official and a Locomotive Engineer Meet in a Saloon and Settle a Quarrel-The Cause.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., September 8 .- [Special.] A sensational duel to the death was fought in a saloon on First avenue this afternoon. The principals were Thomas H. Bennett, warden of the city prison and a local politician of note, and Will Hardeman, a locomotive en-gineer. Bennett was shot four times and killed and Hardeman received a bad wound in the arm. The men had a difficulty some time ago about a woman, and meeting in the saloon this afternoon, it was renewed.

Eye witnesses say Bennett told Hardeman'to-come and fight it out then and there, at the same time drawing a pistol. Hardeman an-swered that he was not armed.

Bennett drew another pistol and handed it to Hardeman. Then the shooting commenced. and eight or ten shots were fired. Bennett sank to the floor with four bullets in his body and died in a few minutes. Hardeman was arrested. Bennett came here eight years ago, from Cincinnati. He has been a prominent leader in all labor and political movements, and was president of a democratic club, which bore his name. He leaves a wife and several RALEIGH, N. C., September 7.-[Special.]-A school for Chinese, to which the name of Oriental Academy is given, was opened yesterday at Kelly's, in Bladin county. Seven pupils are present, and more will arrive next week. Seven of the pupils came direct from Canton, China. The school, which has good buildings, s on a large farm, and the system will be the industrial one. The school is designed for Chinamen desirous of obtaining an English education, but who are prevented by race American school. There is no charge for instruction, board or books, as the students will work in the shops and meet the expenses. Printing will be taught and a paper, The Chinese Advocate, will be printed. The school is strictly non-sectarian, and is under the auspices of a company of leading Chinamen, who are aided by missionaries. Rev. Walter P. King is the principal, with Professor Yan Phon Lee, a young Chinaman, who is a graduate of Yale, as assistant. Rev. Mr. King is a Pennsylvanian, but married a North Carolina ady, whose home is at Kelly's. He and his wife went north to prepare for missionary work, and labored among the Chinese in several of the large cities. This led to the establish-ment of the Oriental Academy.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., September 8.—[Special.]-A race war has broden out in the six-

Last night a mob of nearly fifty negroes at a late hour went to Young's and fired forty or fifty shots into his house. Believing that they had killed the family they began shooting the hogs and cattle. Fortunately none of the shots hit Young or his family. Young has secured a posse of friends, and if they have any urther trouble are going to exterminate the negroes from the community.

ATHENS, Ga., September 8 .- [Special.]-Messrs. George B. Lumpkin, of Oglethorpe, and E. G. Roane, of Wilkes, came up on the same train today.

By many it was expected that a personal difficulty would result, as they are at logger-heads over the recent congressional convention held in Athens.

Mr. Roane sometime since openly charge Mr. Lumpkin with selling his influence. He said that he had arranged with Mr. Lumpkin to transfer enough of Olive's support to Colley to elect him, and that $750 was the price to be paid: that he left it in the safe of the Comercial and went up to where the convention was assembled; that he saw Lumpkin in close consultation with a Lawson delegate, and in a few moments the change came and Lumpkin withdrew Olive's name and cast his votes to

The end of the matter is watched with interest, as both parties are well known in Athens and throughout the eighth district.

ZACK HARGROVES. The Republican Candidate in the Seventh

ROME, GA., September 8.-[Special]-Major Zack Hargroves is one of the most notable political figures in north Georgia. The mayor has stood for twenty-five years steadmayor has stood for twenty-nice years stood-fastly for republicanism. In appearance the mayor is small, with clipped, brown beard, high silk hat, neatly dressed in black, but animation and energy mark his whole appear-ance. The major is one of the pluckiest of men in the thirteen counties, and has several times tested his physical strength with men several times hts size. But he is a man of peace in general principles.

INTERVIEWING MAJOR HARGROVES.

THE CONSTITUTION'S reporter meeting Major Zack Hargroves, the republican candidate for congress from the seventh district of Georgia, inquired what were the chances of his election.
Major Hargroves replied: "First-rate. Do you know that in the seventh district there are 10,000 republican voters and about 15,000 democratic? Of the 10,000 republicans some 2,500 are disfranchised, but they will vote this "What vote did you receive in your race

"What vote did you receive in your race against Judson Clements?"
"I received 2,200 and Clements 7,800. So he beat me less than 3,000 votes. Now, at this election I will get the republican vote. I will also get the vote of 2,500 protectionists democrats, and many of the 'boys who wore the gray' will stand by me for old times' sake. I am the only man who has yet fully endorsed the alliance St. Louis platform. I believe in it in toto and am ready to defend it. I would like to meet Dr. Feiton and Mr. Everett on the stump, but whether they will meet me or not, I am going to canvass the whole district."

The major expects a strong negro vote, and the true alliancemen to stand by their principles.

The major expects a strong negro vote, and the true alliancemen to stand by their principles.

"Major, what is your whole platform?"

"Well, I stand unflinchingly for the principles of the republican party, as enunciated in the platform made at Chicago in the last national convention. I am in favor of repeal of interternal revenue; I am in favor of silver having full value of gold; favor repeal of tax on state banks; am in favor of granting pensions to old and infirm ex-slaves by the government; am in favor of a protective tariff for the sake of protection; favor election of president and senate by a district vote of the people. Am in favor of ballot reform to the end that it shall be made possible for a free vote and fair count of that vote, with heavy penalties against any and all undue influences to control elections. Favor control and ownership of all telegraph lines and railroads by the government; favor legislation by the government for the benefit of the farmer and laborer as far as possible. Will sustain the subtreasury bill as now understood and will advocate any better plan for relief of the agricultural interest when I am presented a better plan. The present plan by the subtreasury is a measure for relief and should be fairly considered.

"I also favor the exemption of $1,000 in a home, or other property, from any tax, and favor a tax on income, and the greater the income the heavier the tax."

The major, it is conceded by all, stands the bost chance he ever had for election, drawing from Everett by his alliance principles, and colored voters from Felton.

The major spoke with much confidence, and, with a broad smile, leisurely sauntered up Broad street.

Homer, Ga., September 8.—[Special.]—A revival has been going on at the Methodist church here this week, in which the wonderful preaching power of a young gentleman, named A. L. Harris, has tsurprised some of our people. He has been preaching only a few months, but his ability and the readiness and skill he displays as a preacher would do redit to many older ministers. He may be described as a plain-looking, but inteflectual young man, full of earnestness and zeal. He is perfectly at ease in the pulpit, and takes hold of the Bible and hymn book like he meant business. He reads and speaks in a rather loud, sonorous voice, without much inflection, and begins at the middle of things and goes into his subject without much preface, as if his whole being were filled with a love for the souls of men, and a desire for their salvation. He comes of a preaching stock of folks, his grandfather being the noted "Uncle Billy" Parks, his father was a preacher in the North Georgia Conference, and was at one time stationed in Atlanta. His uncle, Howell Parks, is a noted preacher, while another uncle, J. D. Gunnells, is also a preacher.

We are so well situated that it is a matter of small expense, five or six thousand dollars will give us a good system. A large creek is at hand waiting to be utilized, and soon it will be in every house in Adairsville, with sufficient force to extinguish any fire that may come.

AGAINST DENNING.

A MEETING OF REPUBLICANS IN AU-

A Resolution Passed Asking the Postmast General to Withdraw Denning's Nomination as Postmaster.

Augusta, Ga., September 8 .- [Special.]-The republicans had a mass meeting at the courthouse tonight. There were about a hundred present, of which about half a dozen were white. The object of the meeting was to get the divided factions of the republican party in this city together. The speakers were Captain Eph Tweedy, who was prominent after the war in the days of reconstrution, and is one of the few white republica in Augusta, and R. R. Wright, principal of the colored high school and one of the most intelligent negroes in Georgia. Both were candidates for the Augusta postoffice against Denning, and Wright has been prominently before the administration of late by his prefer ence in Washington and fight on Denning, who was nominated for the place by President Harrison. Divisions have come into the party here over the postoffice fight and the object of the meeting was to get together again and restore republican harmony.

Tweedy's speech consisted in a eulogy on the g. o. p., telling all the things the party had done for the country, and the democratic party had failed to do. Wright's speech was more personal and more local and conse quently more interesting. He said he had been a candidate for the postoffice here and the only reason he didn't get it was because he didn't have "Lord Buck" on his side. When he found the fight was between Denning and Postmaster Boyce, he preferred the latter, even though he was a democrat. He was opposed to Denning because he was in no way qualified for the place. The following resolutions, which were unanimously passed by the meeting, give Denning a rather black

The remedy to strengthen or help to some more efficacious plan, he fails to suggest or mention.

There seems to be dissatisfaction with Mr. M.
L. McDonald, as the legislative nominee, on account of a rumor that he will not support General Gordon for the United States senate, and there has been some talk of opposition, but it is hardly probable that it will materialize, as Mr. McDonald has not openly announced his intention to oppose Gordon, and it is supposed that as McDonald is an old soldier and admirer of the general he will hardly vote against him. If he should do so, it will be much against the wishes of our people. The Candidate in Banks.

At a conference of the members of the Baptist church held yesterday, the resignation of the pastor, Rev. R. R. McKay, was acted upon The vote stood 29 in favor of accepting the resignation, and 165 against. Mr. McKay is a native of Toronto, Canada, and has had charge of this church two or three years. He is a very earnest Christian man, and is a splendid pastor. A few of the members prefer a native southerner, and want a man of more prominence. While on a recent trip to Toronto, they wrote him a letter without consulting the the church, asking him to tender his resignation, which he did on his return. Many of the members were indignant at the action of the few dissatisfied members. The matter has been freely discussed, and there has been some feeling engendered by their action. It is not known whether Mr. McKay will insist on his resignation being accepted. He has many warm friends here who hope he will not.

ALADY SENDS A BULLET INTO HER

And Objects to Having the Ball Extracted Saying She Wished to Die—Her Mind Unbalanced-The Particulars.

ATHENS, Ga., September 8 .- [Special.]-Miss Salmons, a maiden lady living near Lex-ington, on the Elberton road, attempted to take the suicide route to eternity Sunday night She is living with her father and brother, and for some time her mind has not been in an evenly balanced condition. No one suspected ng like a tragedy, however, and last night the family retired as usual.

About 10 o'clock Mr. Ernest Salmons was awakened from his sleep by the sharp report of a pistol, and rushing to his sister's ro found that she had shot herself through the breast with a Smith & Wesson 32-caliber pistol. She was suffering dreadfully, and Dr. R. J. Willingham, of Lexington, was called in. She absolutely refused to have the ball extracted, and said the only one to blame was herself: that she was weary of life, and wanted to die. She is in a critical condition, and if the ball is not extracted she will, in all proba bility, die.

A BLOODY FIGHT. During Which a Pistol Changed Hands-A

Shot in the Leg. ATHENS, Ga., September 8.—[Special.]—The Georgia, Carolina and Northern camps near the city were the scene of a bloody fight between two negroes yesterday morning. It the city were the scene of a bloody fight between two negroes yesterday morning. It seems that Will Sterling was abusing a negro woman, and that John O'Neill remonstrated with him about it. Sterling became furious, and drawing a bead on O'Neill's head with a thirty-eight caliber Smith & Wesson, pulled the trigger. The cartridge snapped and the ball failed to go on its deadly mission. O'Neill then struck the pistol from Sterling's hand.
About this time O'Neill was seized from behind by a negro named Ferguson, but succeeded in throwing him down. When he let him up he gave Sterling the pistol, and immediately Sterling aimed at O'Neill and pulled down again. O'Neill struck the pistol downward, but the ball entered the knee about the cap.
He came five miles to Athens to have his wound dressed, but it will probably cripple him for life. Sterling skipped for parts unknown.

Several Cases of Misdemeanor Tried Last Week.

Week.

Tennille, Ga., September 8.—[Special.]—
At the present session of Washington court, several cases of felony and misdemeaner have been disposed of with dexterity, and in each case Judge Hines has been so severe as to cause a feeling of terror to come over the spirits of evil doers.

Becky Loyd, an aged white woman, was found guilty of keeping a disorderly house, and fined $150 and ninety days imprisonment.

James B. Leaptrot, charged with forgery, plead guilty, and got twelve months on the chaingang. This case is a sad ending of what should have been an exemplary life. THE COTTON PICKERS BUSY. The White Fields Full of Happy Laborers Picking the Fleecy Stap

LOVEJOY, Ga., September 8.—[Special.]—The busy, or, as it is called, the cotton picking season is now opened up lively with the farmers in this section of our state. Every man and boy of any size is now bending their backs to the rays of the hot September sun, picking ont the fleecy staple. The fields now have the ont the fleecy staple. The fields now have the appearance of a young snow bank, as they are so white with cotton. We believe in cotton in this section. There is, in one mile each way from the village, 1,100 acres under cultivation, 900 acres being in cotton and about 200 in corn. Edwards & Co. have opened up a large gin in one-fourth of a mile of the village and the farmers are sending him cotton faster than he can gin it and bale it. They have already turned out a car of twenty bales of cotton which has been shipped to Atlanta and brought a good price. They claim they will turn out 2,000 bales of cotton from this place this season, which will be in excess of 800 bales over last year. The Central railroad, under its new progressive management, will soon give these people a new depot and place for passengers to get into out of the weather, which pleases them very much as they had no shelter last winter.

THE MONEY SITUATION.

HOW IT IS VIEWED BY SOME LEAD-ING BANKERS.

Captain English's Views Discussed-A Diversity of Opinion as to the Real Cause of the Stringency.

THE CONSTITUTION'S interview with Captain J. W. English, president of the American Trust and Banking Company, was widely dismussed yesterday.

His explanation of the stringency in the money market, and his theories as to the cause, formed the themes for a great deal of talk in business circles. Several of the other bankers in talking over the matter expressed views which did not altogether agree with those of Captain Er glish, so THE CONSTITUTION set out to find nt what some of the other leading bankers had to say upon a subject which must interest everybody.

The results of these interviews are here

"It is true, I believe, that excess of exports over imports of all kind for the year ending July 31, 1890, were something near $30,000,000 more than in the previous year; but while this is true, the excess of coin and bullion exports for the year ending July 31, 1890, were only about $24,-000,000, while for the previous year this excess was about $30,000,000. This would certainly indicate a smaller drain on our currency re sources this year than last year.

"We must, therefore, look for the cause in some other quarter. When we consider that the clearing-house banks of the entire country show an increase in business for the month of August, 1890, of $426,000,000, or of 9.9 per cent over August, 1889, and that the increase by the same showing of August, 1889, over August, 1888, was $400,000,000, or 11 per cent, we can form some idea of the unparalleled rapidity of the increase of general business and can appreciate the necessity of a rapidly expanding currency medium to meet its require ments. In addition to this, the widely ex-tended character of our country makes the transportation of currency and remittance of bills of exchange a slow process, thus tying up immense sums during the period of transit. It is a fact that while the government has purchased bonds amounting to some $30,000,-000 since the first of August, only $5,750,000 of this fund has found its way into the channels of trade, which therefore has experienced only small relief. It seems, too, that the expenditures of the government for the past month have been very limited.

"I would think, therefore, the true cours would be: First, the unprecedented development of the country, particularly of the South and west and the consequent great increase of general business; second, the wide extent of our populated territory and consequent delay in making transfers and exchanges; third, the limited disbursements by the government.

President Porter's, of the Merchants'. Mr. J. H. Porter, president of the Merchants' bank, and also the Southern Banking and Trust Company, is inclined to think more lightly than most of the bankers on the socalled hard times of the money situation.
"At this season of the year," said he, "just before the marketing of the cotton crop, the financial business always tightens down, and there is no reason that I can see for alarm. There is no difficulty here in getting at money, hardly as much as is usually the case at this season of the year, speaking for our own bank.

"We have never had deposits to hold out as good as now, considering the time of year, and have never since we have been a bank, experienced such an easy summer. The New York banks grant us all the discounts we want, which argues that we realize no exceedingly "Up to the first of September we didn't have to discount a dollar, and have never seen a summer before that we didn't have to assistance from New York. It is true, indeed, that we now are compelled to curb our patrons to their own needs, but, this is nothing more than we have done every year before this at this period.

"There is no necessity for any uneasiness here. The farmers have good crops, and owe but little, and if the alliance doesn't succeed in getting them to hold their cotton, why, the money situation will get easier right away.

President W. A. Hemphill of the A. T. and B. Co.
Mr. W. A. Hemphill, president of the Atlanta Trust and Banking Company said: "Yes, the money market is a liftle close just at present, but in my judgment, as well as in the judgment of able financiers who are familiar with the situation, it is only tempo rary. In sixty days money will be easier than it has ever been in years at this season. There is not the slighest cause for any uneasiness. and talk about a panic I take without foundation in fact.

"I don't think the attitude of congress or the tariff question is responsible for the present closeness of money matters, for really there is little more than the stringency always apparent at this time of the year. Then the $45,000,000 set in circulation by the government, and the $4,500,000 monthly coinage of silver cannot fail to relieve any undue closeness that we may be undergoing. To sum the situation up, so far as it affects us here, at least, we are getting along finely—as prosper-ously as our fondest hopes could desire—and as far as my judgment goes, there is no cause for

Cashier Haas, of the Capital City. Mr. Jacob Haas, cashier of the Capital City bank, who has just returned from New York,

"I found the situation in New York not very encouraging, to say the least of it. The money market is indeed close, but banking men and business men generally unite in saying that Secretary Windom is bound to relieve the depression of money matters by the purchase of the United States bonds and silver under the recent act of congress.

"So far as Atlanta and the south generally are concerned, money will be easier here than in New York within less than six months time. "The south has the resources to bring money at any and all times-I refer to cott ourse. The world at large is bound to have it, and the demand is increasing year by year more than the supply will satisfy. Cotton is going to bring good prices, too, you may safely expect.

"Oh, no, I entertain no apprehension of anything like serious trouble in the south where all branches of business are booming on most swimmingly. There is nothing to be feared here."

Vice President Romare, of the Atlants Na-Mr. Paul Romare, vice president of the At-anta National bank, did not care to be quoted. He stated, however, that there was no evading the fact that the money market was very stringent; that while it is usually close at this time of the year, just now it is closer than it has been for some time.

Mr. Romare said he believed the present condition of the market to be due to a corner on money, manipulated by eastern speculators Further than this Mr. Romare would not go into the matter, because he thought any fur ther talk might have an exciting effect upon the Recent Primary.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., September 8.—[Special.]—In pursuance of the call of "Many Democrata" in the last issue of The Gwinnett Herald, a large crowd was present at the courthouse today to witness the proceedings. The call was made by a few citizens who were not satisfied with the result of the primary election, but none could be found today who would acknowledge having had anything to do with the call.

Just after court adjourned the crowd began to congregate, but they found that the meeting was without a leader. None of the so-called "Many Democrats" rose to state the object of the meeting, until finally C. H. Brand, chairman of the avecurose to state the object of the meeting, until finally C. H. Brand, chairman of the execu-tive committee, called the meeting to order and extended an invitation to any of the many democrats who might wish to preside over the meeting. No one offering his services, it was decided that there should be a meeting anyhow, whereupon H. W. Rhodes was elected

C. H. Brand introduced the following resolutions, which met with hearty applause and were passed without a dissenting vote:

Whereas, The executive committee of the democratic party of Gwinnett county on April 30th, last, ordered a primary election to, be held on June 21st thereafter, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the legislature, congressmen, governor, secretary of state, compiroller general, attorney general and treasurer, and Whereas, In edience and pursuance to that call said primary election was held, whereat every aspirant for these respective positions had ample, full and equal opportunity to be supported and voted for by the people of the county, nearly 1,200 participating in said primary;

in the convention was there any question raised, or thought of, as to the validity of Gwinnett's primary election; and

Whereas, At a mass meeting of the democratic party of this county held on the first Tuesday in August last to elect a new executive committee and delegates to the senatorial convention, a resolution was passed by a rising vote without a dissenting voice, endorsing said primary election and pledging its support to the nominees thereof, including Thomas E. Winn for congress, and Nathan liennett and Henry S. Peeples for the legislature, therefore be it

Resolved, That for the sake of the democratic party of this county, district and state, and in order to party of this county, district and state, and in order to hold intact its organization, to maintain its solidity, to perpetuate its unity, thereby preserving peace and harmony within the ranks of the party; and in order to prevent disruption, to suppress strife, to avoid bitterness and contention, and to maintain among all the people of the county, regardless of trade, profession or calling, that petrect confidence and good will that is necessary for the welfare of the people and essential to the party's success, this meeting of the people loyal to the democratic party affirms that it would be unwise, unsafe, undemocratic and not advisable at this late day to oppose the action of the people at the ballot hox in said primary election, or for any democrat to lend his assistance or support to any candidate opposing the nominees thereof.

FIRST SENATORIAL DISTRICT.

FIRST SENATORIAL DISTRICT. Pembroke Williams, of Bryan County,

Nominated. GUYTON, Ga., September 8.—[Special.]— The senatorial convention for the first district met here today and organized by electing S. B. Adams, of Savannah, chairman, and Cap-B. Adams, of Savannan, charman, and Cap-tain A. A. Winn, of Effingham, secretary. The convention was composed of four dele-gates from Bryan county, six from Chatham and six from Effingham. Chatham and Effingham having concelled the candidate to Bryan, the question was practically left to the delegates of that county as to who the nominee should be for the first district. Unfortunately the delegates on this point were divided, a majority supporting Pembroke W. Williams, and the minority J. H. Heery.

After a great deal of wrangling, in which crimination and recrimination were indulged in by the two opposing candidates and their friends, and several recesses, a ballot was gone into which resulted as follows:

Bryan—P. W. Williams, 1½ votes; J. H. Heery. 4 vote.

Bryan—P. W. Williams, 1½ votes; J. H. Heery, ½ vote.
Chatham—Williams 3, Heery 3.
Ettingham—Williams 13. One of Effingham's delegates refused to vote.
Before the ballot was announced, on motion of Colonel W. W. Gordon, the vote was made unanimous, whereupon Mr. Williams received the hearty congratulations of his friends, with whom he boarded the train this afternoon with a smile as broad as the county of Bryan. No question that came before the convention received such a unanimous and enthusiastic endorsement as the mons and enthusiastic endorsement as the resolution introduced by P. J. O'Connor, of Chatham, instructing the nominee of the convention to vote for Governor John B. Gordon for United States senator. The nominee is a lawyer and a successful farmer and very popular in his section.

censed preacher. On last Saturday the church held what they term a steward and class leaders' board. Blake went and notified Johnson of the meeting. Johnson came, and was, at the meeting, notified by Blake that his presence was not wanted; that the only place for him was over in Floyd county, where they had given him a little church, and when he (Johnson) had any warring or banking it do he. son) had any marrying or baptising to do he must send for Blake. Johnson told him he had as much right to marry anybody as he did, whereupon the discussion went from hot to hotter, until the lie was passed to hotter, until the he was passed more times than one. Blake is a large, stout man. He picked Brother Silas Johnson up under his arm and started for the church door. At the door, however, Johnson's friends wanted to take a hand, but cooler heads prevailed and the fuss was temporarily abandoned. When church time came yesterday, the steward held the keys and would not allow preaching. They would not give any the keys so ard held the keys and would not allow preaching. They would not give up the keys, so, after consultation with two of our justices of the peace, they were called out and the keys were forthcoming. The lines are well drawn and there is no telling what may come of it. The above are all negroes. Politics may have something to do with it.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

The Mississippi Constitutional Convention Jackson, Miss., September 8 .- The constitutional convention has at last settled down tutional convention has at last settled down to business, which called it into existence. Immediately after roll-call today, Chairman Patty, of the franchise committee, moved that the convention resolve itself into committee of the whole to consider as one question the several reports presented by this committee. No objection was raised and the suffrage question will now have the right of way until it has been thoroughly discussed or disposed of. The first speaker to open the debate was Judge Christman, circuit court judge, who made an earnest and telling debate was Judge Christman, circuit court judge, who made an earnest and telling speech in favor of his amendment to the committee's report, criticising the report of the committee. He deuounced the provision requiring illiterate voters to be able to understand the constitution, when read to them, as a trick that would lodge in the hands of election judges power to allow or refuse a vote to electors who were unable to read.

TO DISCOURAGE MATRIMONY.

Formation of a Society Whose Members Promise to Tiennain Single.
From The Chicago Tribune.
A society has been formed in New York to discourage men from matrimony, and it has numerous branches in that city. Its meetings are conducted with great secreey, and the membership.

I married the girl and we went to live on a ranch, where I made enough money to live comfortably for the rest of my life, and then we moved to Cleveland. O. Here I hired a big house on one of the principal streets, and was as happy as a man can expect to be in this life, with two bright little boys to look after. But one night I discovered my wife was unfaithful. I told her to leave the house within an hour. She did so. Soon afterwards I obtained a divorce. Then the thought struck me that there was many a poor fellow who was being fooled just as I was who would never learn of it, and I concluded to do all I could to persuade young men not to marry—it is a failure—it blasted my life and thousands of others. With this object in view I have been traveling about the country organizing societies to do this work, and thus far we have met with wonderful success. I go to a city, and I may look over the records and pick out the names of men who have been recently divorced I send them a note asking them to meet me at a certain place on a certain night. From these ten letters about six respond, and that is enough to start with. When the society is started I go on to another town and do the same work again. I have started societies in most all the large cities. Our organization has no one name, but each society names itself. Out in St. Louis they call them-selves "The Men's Protective Society," in Newark they are 'The Never Again Club,' and the Jersey City branch calls itself 'The Kreutzer Sonatas.

Daniel Webster's Habits.

From America.

There has been a good deal of controversy about
When he went to England Mr. Webster's habits. When he went to England he acquired what I do not think was his habit be-fore, he became convivial; and on his return he showed an evident liking for the brandy bottle. He was never an inebrlate, but sometimes he made his most powerful speeches while under the inmade his speech at Richmond, under the October sun, as it was called, he drank so heavily at dinner that when they took him out into the statehouse the state said he was afraid for him. Just before his turn to speak came the governor leaned over and said to him: "Mr. Webster, we will be ready for you presently." Webster roused himself, drew his massive hand up and through his hair, and smoothed his face, and it seemed as if he had wiped away all signs of intoxication; and when a few moments later he arose to face that enormous crowd he was himself again, and for over an hour he held that audience entranced with his matchless oratory.

From The New York Star.

Nearly four years ago the medical journals of the country teemed with articles praising the health-giving properties of buttermilk. I recall the fact that the daily papers followed suit, and for a short time buttermilk was boomed as an all-the-year-round drink, a preventive or cure for all the ills to which flesh is heir. The better class of hearrooms said it as they would also release and of the prevents and the star of the said the barrooms sold it as they would ale or beer, and at 5 cents per glass realized a handsome profit undoubtedly. This was a custom of the barrooms of the southern cities long "afo' de wah," and is still a custom there. Then the appearance on the streets—particularly in the vicinity of 'change—of a custom there. Then the appearance on the streets—particularly in the vicinity of change—of these curious-looking low wagons, supplied with porcelain cans filled with butternilk and little counters began, and today there are hundreds of them in the lower part of the town.

Does the business pay?—Decidedly. One dealer in the vicinity of Wall street told me the other day that he thought nothing of selling 800 quarts a day.

"And how much of sweet milk?" I asked.

"Oh, from 200 to 300 quarts."

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION, Will be delivered to any address in the city at TWENTY CENTS FER WEEK.

ATLANTA, GA., SEPTEMBER 9, 1890.

The Financial Situation.

When the interviews in yesterday's Constitution with Messrs. English and Lowe are closely read and thoughtfully digested it will be seen that the country is now in no danger of a panic. We are emerging from a tight money market, but the prospect is that the situation will grow easier every day. Bradstreet's Wall street review for the past week is decidedly encouraging. It is stated that there were no symptoms of financial stringency to disturb the stock market during the week, although on Friday afternoon rates were bid up a little. Secretary Windom's offer to redeem $20,000,000 more 41 per cent bonds during September resulted in a light tender of bonds, and the movement of currency to the west and south continued. All disturbing influences have been allayed, and the supply of available funds has dropped to its legal rate, and bullish activity has quieted down.

This view is supported by The Financial Chronicle. That authority says that money is easier, and the perfecting of the appropriation bills will cause large amounts of money to be expended by the government, thus further relieving the situation. The calls from the interior are so heavy that the bank reserves will necessarily be small until the looked-for government disbursements. Certain large failures last week caused no mercantile depression. In fact, the trade outlook is quite satisfactory. The Chronicle's review, closing Friday afternoon, said:

The stock market has presented one of the not unusual phases incidental to a summer period, in which the selling down of a few stocks can depress the whole market in the ableace of any large outside support. It does not appear that the talk against some of the western stocks has embraced anything essentially new, or anything that was not quite as well known several weeks ago. The decrease in the corn crop of 1890 and the fact that many of the extreme western extensions on a number of railroads have to be carried for some time by the earnings of their older lines are certainly not matters of surprise which have first dawned on the market this week. When we look back for a month, we find that several good points have been accumulating in favor of the stock situation-first came the notable improvement in London; then the threatening cloud caused by the New York Central strike drifted away; latterly our money market has relaxed to normal figures, and, finally, while the western crops are not nearly as heavy as last year, the southern cotton crop is near a maximum, and the prices of cereals are so much higher that the western farmer is generally

The open market rates for call loans during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 3 to 12 per cent, with 6 per cent as a fair average. Prime commercial paper is quoted at 6@61/2 per cent.

better satisfied than he was in 1889. On the other hand, there is a cautious feeling about stocks; many persons think that railroad earnings have gone about as high as they are likely to go for the present; operating expenses have increased, and upon the whole there is not much disposition to look for any boom in

All this gives us assurance of a prosperous fall and winter, especially in the south, where our products will bring the people over $600,000,000.

Captain English, in the interview already referred to, while speaking confidently of the bright outlook for the south, mentioned three evils that we must get rid of before we can enjoy a full measure of prosperity. These evils are:

1. Too small a per capita circulation. 2. The 10 per cent tax on the issues of state banks. 3. The fact that land has no value as a security.

The farmers of the country fully un derstand the depressing nature of these drawbacks, and they have taken a step in the right direction in arraying themselves solidly against the national banking system. THE CONSTITUTION began a relentless warfare years ago against the present banking system, and proposes to fight it out on that line. Even in England money is not fettered and monopolized as it is here. Local banks in that country are allowed to issue currency, just as our state banks did before the

The tax of 10 per cent on our state bank issues was intended to be prohibitory, and was fixed in the interests of the powerful money trust which now controls the republic, and keeps the farmers down. The only way to secure a substantial reform is to restore our old banking system. With state banks of issue in full operation every locality would have a good currency, amply sufficient for its needs, and land would again become a good security, just as it was thirty and forty years ago.

The farmers and the masses of the people generally must go to work on this line, and impress this policy upon their representatives in congress until they carry their point. The national banking system must go. So long as it holds the country in its grip the people will be at the mercy of capitalists and monopolists.

Democratic lnactivity.

If it be true, as charged by a Maine cor espondent of The New York World, that the national democratic committee has taken no interest in the contest in Reed's district. the fact does not speak well for either the intelligence or the political honesty of the nembers of that body.

The situation in Reed's district has been such that it could not be ignored by any intelligent democrat, much less by those who have been appointed to look after the interests of the party. It is a fact well known to every democrat who reads the newspapers that the republicans in Reed's district, up to within a very few days, have been in a badly demoralized condition. It was given out, not more than a fortnight ago, that the speaker would rear back and stand on his dignity-that he would refuse to make a personal canvass, such as common aspirants found necessary. His friends said that he would remain in Washington attending to his official duties, and leave the result to his republican followers in Maine. It was soon discovered, however, that this big talk would not begin to do. The fact was developed that there was a good deal of opposition to Reed among the republicans of his district. The cloak of dignity was laid aside, and the speaker, accompanied by Henry Cabot Lodge, set forth on a tour the other day, intending to convince the republicans that they ought to vote for him. The chief features of this tour have already been given in the newspapers. Reed found that the situation was desperate-that he was not engaged in a fight for re-election simply, but in a struggle for political existence. Even with McKinley and Lodge to aid him, Reed was in doubt. As McKinley put it in a speech, he found "the future of the republican party and of the race itself trembling in the balance." He thereupon telegraphed to Washington for Dudley, and that active disburser of boodle promptly responded. Where votes are to be bought,

Dudley is in his element. Last Friday McKinley, in a public speech, let a big cat out of the bag. "I have been speaking in many towns in this district," he said, "and I have been disgusted." situation at that time is aptly summed up by the correspondent of The New York World "Mr. Reed can be defeated, but he probably won't be. Were one-tenth the effort which is being exerted in his behalf expended to compass his defeat, he would not be re-

Democratic inactivity in so important an election does not promise well for the future. The amateurs and wind-bags will have to get out of the way.

No Cause For Alarm.

We notice in a number of our weekly exchanges complaints that the farmers in different sections are using jute bagging, and various protests have been entered against this "letting down of alliance principles," as it is called. But it is evident that the farmers are not to blame for it, in that it is practically impossible to obtain sufficient cotton bagging for present needs.

The fact that many farmers are using the jute article does indicate that they have withdrawn their forces from the attack, and have knuckled down to the trusts: it is for the present, simply a matter of convenience with them; and it may be said that they are getting jute bagging on their own terms-for 64 and 84 cents, a fact which goes to show that the great monopoly has "knuckled down' to the farmers.

The farmers' fight against the trusts will not be abandoned, and their present patronage is only temporary. The cotton bagging output of the New Orleans and Georgia mills is comparatively small, and the cotton crop will be large. At great pecuniary loss the farmers have fought the jute monopoly in the past, and will continue to fight it in the future; they are daily discovering new weapons of defense; various fibers are being tested for future use in the covering of cotton, and it is only a question of time when the farmers will have the matter entirely in their own hands. They will find their strongest weapons of defense upon their own ground. They have done wonders in the past, and will do wonders in the future. Therefore, the fact that jute is being used in some sections of the state should give no alarm. The farmers have whipped the fight against the trusts, and they have been brought to the farmers' terms.

A New Industry.

In a recent number of The Southern Cul tivator, Mr. A. W. Smith, of Americus gives the farmers of Georgia some interesting hints as to one of the sources of moneymaking which he has found profitable as well as interesting.

Mr. Smith doubts if there is a county in Georgia but has some specially desirable plant, fruit or flower which could be sold to orthern seedmen as wonderful novelties. and he declares that most of the noveltie originating in the south have real merit. Mr. Smith's experience is decidedly inter-

In 1885-86, he saw Peter Henderson's advertisement of the moonflower. He at once decided, from the cut, that the moonflower was the evening glory, and he wrote to the Henderson Company asking if they would buy the seed and at what price. There was ome doubt on the part of the company as to the identity of the plants, and they sent Mr. Smith one hundred plants from which to grow seed. He saw at once that the plants were different. Though the moonflower bloomed profusely it matured no seeds, being an imperfect bloomer. When the evening glory bloomed it fertilized the blooms of the moonflower plants, which formed seeds. From these were obtained Smith's hybrid moonflower, which is superior to the original in every way. In the fall of 1886. Mr. Smith delivered to the Hendersons five pounds each of white seed and hybrid, amounting to $32.50.

While corresponding with this company, he wrote about his yellow-fleshed watermelon, describing it to them. In the spring of 1887 the company paid him $400 for ten and a half pounds of seed, and the exclusive right to the melon, Mr. Smith added the growth of other new seeds as they appeared, and during 1887 sold to the amount of $287, not including the sale of the watermelon seed. In 1888, he sold seeds to the amount of $804.25, while in 1889 his sales were $3,639.86, of which amount $2,297.86 were for seed grown on his home place in Americus, including $750 for the seed of his rubygold watermelon.

In Americus, Mr. Smith has six acres which are devoted to seed-raising purposes, and he has demonstrated the fact that a man, by merely looking around him and magnifying a little the products of his garden, may make considerable profit-in a comparative ly new direction. The only wonder is that the great seedmen of the north, who make millions out of the business, have not established seed farms at the south where most vegetable products develop to perfection. Our farmers, however, have an opportunity to take profitable advantage of this failure.

Can Such Things Be? The New Orleans Picavune has fallen a victim to the fad of hypnotism. Our contemporary goes to extremes, and takes the position that a person can exert his will power so as to influence the minds and bodies of others around him, and even at a considerable distance. It is asserted that this mysterious power can be exercised with immediate results by an operator a thousand miles away from the individual selected for a subject.

Such unmitigated bosh has no business in the editorial columns of a reputable newspaper. Such a state of affairs would relieve many people of all responsibility for their actions. But there is nothing in it. The human will cannot possibly be projected through space, and made to control a person who is miles away. If the Picayune editor is disposed to stick to his theory, let him give some well-authenticated cases to prove it. Or, better still, let him organize a com mittee of able-bodied, strong-minded experts. and put the matter to a test.

Nothing would be more fatal to freedom of thought and action than to have the belief gain ground that a man may be forced to commit criminal and foolish acts by some unknown individual who quietly sits down in a distant city and brings all the power of his mind to bear upon the victim.

Such stuff will do for Rider Haggard's stories, but it won't do in real life, and a newspaper printed for practical men and women should not give currency to anything so wild and unreasonable.

An Author's Grievance.

Marion Harland, until recently has been the editor of a family magazine published in New York. Under her management a large circulation was built up for the magazine, as her name is a household word throughout the land.

For reasons best known to herself she de cided to withdraw from the magazine, and resigned the editorship. She naturally wished to say a word of farewell to her readers, and prepared a valedictory.

But the publishers, appreciating the value of a great name, refused her this privilege, fearing that the public announcement of her retirement would affect the circulation of the magazine; the idea being to deceive the public and the readers of the magazine by leading them to believe that their favorite author was still on deck.

But Marion Harland objects to this illigit trading on her name and reputation, and so she has publicly announced her withdrawal from the magazine in the newspapers.

This will place the publishers in an unenviable light before the public; but if they suffer any loss by it, it will be no more than they deserve. An author toils for years to gain a reputation; this, it may be said, is an author's stock in trade, and no publisher has a right to use it outside of a mutual

In the belief that Marion Harland is still editing this magazine, her readers are sending manuscripts and communications to her address, and this is a great annovance to her. She has a grievance against the publishers which is no small matter, and she would be right in holding them responsible for it.

How Workers Are Paid.

As a rule the men who do the heavy work of the age-work requiring skill, strength and exposure to the elements, are paid very

The well-paid workers are in light trade like gas-fitting, plumbing, etc. The same rule holds good in literature and journalism. Herbert Spencer has written books that will be of great value for generations to come, and yet they have not paid the expense of publication, while there are scores of writers of light trash in England whose incomes are over $10,000 a year. It is the same in this country. The ablest writers in New York on subjects requiring profound thought and vast information can hardly make a living, while Bill Nye can easily make $11,000 s year writing funny stuff for the newspapers Within the past few years the appetite of the reading public for stories has greatly increased, and no newspaper can succeed that does not print an abundant supply of such matter. Last year a retired army officer syndicated his stories with several newspapers, and made $10,000. Mrs. Burnett, Mr. Stevenson and others are making more money in the same way than they will ever make out of their books. Other writers whose names are never heard of in the literary world make from $5,000 to $15,000 a year turning out blood and thunder stories and sketches. The rage for sensationalism and light trifles has spread to the pulpit. An able minister who has studied hard all his life is doing very well if he can command $1,200 a year, while the mountebanks of the pulpit, the sensationalists, make their $20,000 a year and draw the crowd.

People are run mad after something novel startling, entertaining and dazzling. They take no interest in solid work, material or intellectual, that will endure for centuries. They live for today, and only ask to have their wants supplied for the day. They are so busy, and have so many cares, that they cannot think of tomorrow. So they starve the conscientious workers and thinkers, and shower money upon the fellows who excite their wonder or their mirth.

All this is enough to excite the amaze ment of the young man who surveys the great world before beginning his career. He sees the very types of men he has been taught to honor drudging along in poverty, while others stand around, doing the light work of the hour—work that will periah and be forgotten in a day, and win fame and

Perhaps this is the age of trifles. It certainly is a frothy, flashy age, but the men who live in it will have to make the best of it. And they are doing it. Not one man in a hundred does the patient, substantial, skillful work that was demanded forty years ago. People have found out that there is ore money in a glittering sham than there is in something solid, and they are furnishing the sham work without a protest. So runs the world away. CONGRESSMAN MILLIKEN, who had to be led to the rear at Waterville, was probably overcome by the lack of republican enthusiasm. This sort of thing is calculated to give a good man the hiccoughs.

FREE BINDING-TWINE is giving Editor Robert P. Porter a good deal of trouble. He thinks the country has been seriously hurt by it. THE NEW YORK PRESS remarks that the republican collapse in Vermont was due to "local issues." Perhaps, on the other hand, it was the result of putting binding-twine on the free list. RAUM SHOULD call the whisky ring to his aid. It used to be an invincible influence in congress. THE WHITE HOUSE cannot be properly disinfected until the democrats get a chance at it

WHAT IS the matter with our celebrated democratic national committee? The charge is made that it has been taking no interest whatever in the contest in Reed's district in Maine. If this is true, it may be permitted an interested observer to inquire what a national committee is hired for.

CONGRESSMAN KENNEDY says that the re publican party cannot afford to follow the lead of a branded criminal; but Kennedy is mistaken. Just at this juncture the republican party cannot afford to do otherwise.

TOM REED'S SPEECH.

Some Brief Comments on the Sp Summary. From The New York Sun.

At Portland, the Hon. Thomas Brackett Reed undertook to catalogue the achievments of the republican majority in the fifty-first congress.

"If any tariff was ever the result of the beliefs of the whole people of the United States," said the speaker, "the McKinley bill was that bill." And yet one man, a republican, and a greater re-publican than any in the fifty-first congress, blew the life out of that bill with less than three dozen words.

"The house of representatives," said the speaker, "true to its duty, has passed a bill which, when it becomes a law will give to the people of the United States the suffrages of millions." The force bill, eh? It will not become a law, and its only political service will be to give to the people of the United States a democratic house in 1891. "We have organized the territory of Oklahoma."

said the speaker, "and made a beginning of bring-ing into the union that rich and exhaustless re-gion which has been hitherto but the home of the savage on his way to civilization." And the first definite returns from that rich and exhaustless region come in the shape of an appeal to congress, through Benjamin Hairison, for an elecmosynary appropriation of the public money to feed the starving settlers. "We have admitted into the union," said the speaker, "two great states, each of them more vast than the whole of New England."

And added four votes to the republican majority

And added four votes to the republican majority in the senate by the premature admission of two vast regions which, although each is geographically larger than the whole of New England, contain respectively 60,000 and 79,000 inhabitants.

"The house of representatives," said the speaker, with a disingeneousness wholly unworth a man of courage, "after a flerce fight of many days, has determined, more s'an four to one, that whoever sells pure lard may label it as such," and whoever sells a compound of lard and other things shall call it a compound, to the end that people may know what they are luying."

And in passing a pretended tax bill which even the speaker dares not say he regards as wise, or honest, or constitutional, the house has created another precedent for the oppression and supering the pression of any legitimate American industry is the TITS OF LOCAL NEWS GATHERED BY REPORTERS. The News of a City Briefly Told-Leaves from the Scratch Pads That Constitution Men Carry.

THE EMMETT CLUB.—One of the largest and most popular orgalizations is the Emmett Club. It now numbers about eighty-five members, including the leading Irishmen of the

HE IS CONVALESCING .- Mr. Robert H. Mc Dougall, who has been quite ill with typhoid fever, at his residence, No. 10 Jones street, is convalescing. This will be good news to his many friends in the city.

IMPROVING THE INTERIOR.—Messrs. Maier Rerkele, jewelers, are improving the inte-IMPROVING THE INTERIOR.—Messrs. Maier & Berkele, jewelers, are improving the interior of their large store on Whitehall street, near Mitchell, and when completed it will be one of the handsomest stores on the street.

THE HIBERNIAN HALL.—The prospects are very favorable for the early erection of a hall for the Hibernian society. The committee that has the matter in charge is working zealously, and meeting with gratifying success.

Going to Texas.—Mr. George S. Davant, a large stockholder in the Georgia railroad and a popular citizen of Penfield, is at the Markham house en route for Beaumont, Tex., where he goes on a visit to his brother, Rev. Robert P. Davant.

THE RECORD BEATEN.-Recorder Kontz made a record for the longest session yester-day. He say in police court from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 11:10 o'clock last night, in addition to the regular morning session. The total fines amounted to about $350.

NEARING COMPLETION.—The elegant new ouilding erected by Mr. W. D. Smith, on Decatur street, is nearing completion. It is a handsome two-story building, stores on the ground floor and offices above, and is one of the most roomy and capacious structures on that portion of the street.

No FOUNDATION FOR THE RUMOR.—For several days the rumor has been circulated that Judge Bleckley, of the supreme court, intended to resign shortly.

When asked about it yesterday he said that he knew nothing about the talk, and that there was no foundation whatever for it. RETURNED TO DENVER .- The many Atlanta riends of Dr. Everett, who came to Atlanta a few weeks since, will regret to learn that he has decided to return to Denver. He left the city on Saturday lasts for Topeka, Kans, in company with his daughter, Miss May Everett, where she will enter Bethamy college.

THE CHEERFUL CHEROKEES .- There was a THE CHEERFUL CHEROKEES.—There was a cig pow-wow at Cherokee Wigwam last night. Quite a number of new members were initiated, and the red tribe sustained its repuration in making the most of the occasion. The Cherokees grow and increase in numbers at each and every meeting.

AN ATLANTA BOY .- Mr. Mike M. Brannan, an old Atlanta journalist, who has been doing some excellent work in Alabama, passed through the city yesterday. Mr. Brannan is en route to New York, where he goes to join the Katie Putnam troup for the season as Miss Putnam's press representative.

KIT BUSTIAN MOVED .- Kit Bustian, the

Coweta county rapist, was removed from Newnan upon the representation that he was in dauger of being lynched.

Bustian's death sentence was recently commuted to imprisonment for life, and some of the people of the county are indignant. His crime was an assault upon a white woman.

HE SAYS IT'S SETTLED Now.—Yesterday merning Sargeant Moss, of the police force, found a big brass key on Decatur street. "It's a regular jail key," he says, "and v cans luck. It means that our ticket will get there—it opens the jail to me, you see." Sergeant opens the jail to me, you see." Sergeant Moss is on the Morrow ticket for sheriff. If it gets there, he is to be jailer.

A Mysterious Trunk. -There is a mysteri A Mysterious Trunk.—There is a mysterious trunk at police headquarters. It is a small trunk, covered with peacock blue sheet iron and bound with rope. The trunk was delivered to a hackman several weeks ago, to be taken, he said, to McPherson barracks. He carried it there, but could not find a claimant, and so turned it over to the police department.

Whose trunk is it, and what does it contain?

GONE TO NEW YORK .- Judge Howard Van Epps left on Saturday last for a visit to his family in Athens. A Large Pair of Mules.—"I have purchased probably the largest pair of mules ever seen in this city," said Mr. Walter Chapman, one of the largest horse dealers in Macon, who one of the largest horse dealers in Macon, who was on the return from a trip to St. Louis. "I purchased two carloads of mules and horses in St. Louis, and among them this pair of mules for the Macon Brewing Company. They cost $600, and are whoppers, I tell you. Horses and mules are higher than last year, because the demand is greater. Do you know the supply is gradually moving westward? We purchase now in Missouri and Indiana the class of stock we used to buy in Kentucky and Tennessee, the cotton states being now more devoted to the raising of blooded stock than of devoted to the raising of blooded stock than of Georgia's Biggest Farmer.—"The crops down in Ogiethorpe are not as good as they might have been," said Colonel James M. Smith, the famous farmer of that county, yesterday. "The early drought checked the maturing of the corn and retarded the growth of cotton to such an extent that we will not make as much as we expected from the fields. But, with all that, a good harvest is awaiting us as compared to some whave reaped for the past few years. The farmers are happier and more prosperous than ever before and we really have little to regret and much—very much, to be thanful for.

a treat in the way of some watermelons from his farm.

The lawyer was standing at the foot of the stairway leading to his office, conversing with a friend, when the countryman drove up and getting out of his wagon took a melon under each arm and walked up to the lawyer.

"How do you do, sir," said the lawyer, all smiles; "glad to see you. Walk right upstairs. Let me carry the big one. They are beauties, for a fact."

"Yes, they're nicked melons. Pulled 'em.

"Yes, they're picked melons. Pulled 'em this morning," said the farmer, as they climbed

"Come in and sit down. How's Mrs. Granger, and the little Grangers?"

"All up and about, how's your folks?"

"Oh, as well as usual. My wife has been trying to get me to take her out to your farm for a month. Some day we'll drive out and call on you."

"Be glad to see you. Just pick up and come ahead when you get ready."

"Be glad to see you. Sussepte ap abead when you get ready."
"Oh, we're coming. Those are fine melons, sure, and I don't know how to thank you."
"Oh, that's all right I always try to please my customers."

"Oh, that's all right I always try to please my customers."
Then the conversation flagged a minute, and the farmer broke the silence by asking, "do you want one, or both of them?"
"Why, I'll take both, and much obliged."
Ahem? Well, this one is worth 15 cents and that 20 cents—"
"Oh—ah—well! Lemme see. I believe I'll only take the smaller one," said Blackstone with a look of blank astonishment on his face.
"All right, I'll sell the big one to the fellow next door. Good day. I'll stop again Saturday. and I'll have some choice ones—"
"Oh, never mind. I shall be out of town that day. Good morning."

Mr. James G. Woodward Annexed to the Perkerson Ticket—The Democratic Executive Committee to Meet.

Mr. Jim Woodward, the third ward alderman, is in the race for sheriff. His name will be found on the Perkers ticket as a deputy. The announcement was made authoritatively yesterday.

For several days past rumor has connected Mr. Woodward with the race, his name being mentioned as deputy on both tickets.

Mr. Woodward would neither admit nor deny these rumors.

Then, too, it was as freely asserted that he would run for mayor this fall.

And again Mr. Woodward was silent.

Early yesterday morning, however, he an-counced that he had become a member of the Perkerson party, and that he would not be in the mayoralty race.

"You see," said he, "my name has been freely mentioned in connection with both tickets, but it was without any authority from me. Then, too, I was talked about for the mayoralty, and for a time I was seriously thinking of making that race. On every hand I found the most flattering encouragement.

"But you have given it up?" "For this fall, yes. I have, as you know, two more years as an alderman, and I do not care to sacrifice these even to become mayor.'
"When did you decide?"

"I have been thinking of it for some time, and I am in now, a member of the old ticket."

The ticket will read: A. M. Perkerson, sheriff; L. P. Thomas, W. A. Wilson, J. G Woodward, deputies.

The new ticket is working hard, and every member is tilling the field thoroughly. It consists of J. M. Morrow, with J. J. Barnes, W. M. Blount, Will D. Glenn and E. F. Doneho

The fight is now fairly on, and until the primary the candidates will keep moving among their friends. The County Executive Committee.

The county democratic executive committee will meet tomorrow at noon, in the county A primary for county officers will be or-dered.

Chairman Brown is anxious that every mem-ber of the committee should be present and take part in the work. Of course, the date of the primary cannot be foretold, but the candidates seem to want it from the 10th to the 15th of next month.

"We would like to have it done with," said one yesterday, "just as quickly as possible."
"Then there's another thing," he continued.
"I think I speak for every candidate when I say I hope we won't have any duplex boxes in the wards."

"And why?" he was asked.
"Because they will encourage fraud. For each ward there'! be a set of books, but what's to prevent a man voting at one place and then at the other in the same ward? Then, too, let the voting close before it gets too dark to tell a man. I know of three registered voters who did not go near the polls at the last election, and yet each one seemed to have voted. Some one simply took their names and voted. The Clerk's Ticket.

Negotiations with electrical construction

Negotiations with electrical construction companies regarding the building of the line are now pending, and the closing of the contract is almost in sight.

It is possible that a storage battery system will be adopted if it is considered practicable. At any rate the gentlemen interested in the enterprise say the line will be one of the finest in the country. "And what are the results?" he was asked. "The most important result, I may say, is that the Soque river water is good and pure; that there is plenty of it; that it can be easily brought to Atlanta, and that the starting point is high enough above the carshed.

"Where did you begin work?"
"Six miles from Clarksville, and at that point the water is 324 feet above the carshed. It is there, too, as I have said, in the greatest abundance and in great purity.

"Then I began to investigate the problem of bringing the water to Atlanta. I found an easy flow to Belton. Then taking the Richmond and Danville line as a basis of my calculations I inducted the water into Atlanta, the general route being down the Chattahoochee ridge. Of course, a definite route cannot be designated until the final survey is made.

"What of the Amicolola survey?" "My brother is now working on that. In my work I had the Richmond and Danville line to go upon, while his survey is one absolutely new with no basis. He began his work right here in the city and is now slowly hunt-ing the waters of the Amicolola."

Mr. Hall's work on the Soque river line was close and tedious, but that of his brother is more so. From Clarksville to Atlanta it was a long, weary tramp, slowly made. A Letter from Mrs. Davis. Mayor Glenn yesterday received an autograph letter from Mrs. V. Jefferson Davis, widow of the late President Davis.

It was in reply to a letter written by Mayor Glenn. Several days ago Mayor Glenn wrote Mrs. Davis, extending a warm invitation to her and Miss Winnie Davis to visit Atlanta during the Piedmont exposition as the guests of At lanta. In her reply Mrs. Davis says that she is just now very busy revising the history of Mr. Davis, and that if she can complete the work she will be delighted to come. Mrs. Davis, however, promises Miss Winnie's presence. In her letter Mrs. Davis refers to Atlanta in the most pleasant manner possible, recalling the loving tribute paid her dead

The reason for their happiness was that the Georgia Pacific road was to run a grand excursion to Birmingham.

TO THE 'VARSITY.

THE ATLANTA BOYS WHO WILL BE THERE THIS YEAR.

Atlanta Furnishes Ten Per Cent of the Stu dents that Go There-Our Boys Stand Amongst the Foremost.

Of the 200 students at the State university this fall, 10 per cent will represent the Gate

When comparisons are made between previous years and the showing of other Georgia cities, it will be seen that Atlanta will have the fullest attendance this year that she has ever had, and that her representation will be larger than that of any other three cities in the

Of the class standing of Atlanta boys, little more need be said than what is so well shown the reports of commencement. For the past ten years, honors in-every class and every department have been earned by them, and while in all cases they have not been the highest, they have generally shown of what Atlanta people are made and by what enterprise their thorough elementary school system is backed. Their social standing amongst the citizens of Athens has ever been the best, and the popularity which they win with their fellow-students from every section of the state will prove the greatest blessing in future years, in whatever siness or profession they may be engaged.

The common mistake of Atlantians, and in fact of others principally in the other cities of the state, is that a better education can be obtained at some northern school. But investigation will show that such is not the case. The standard of the university since the new chancellor has taken charge. has been bettered 100 per cent. The bes teachers have been obtained, and to enter at all, now, one must be possessed of a good on school education

Atlanta's representation, this year, will be the largest she has ever had, and there will be students from here in every class and every department of the grand old institution.

The representation in the law class will be good, and shows the increased faith which Atlanta citizens have in that department of the school. Mr. Frank Fontaine, a graduate of the college at Auburn, Ala., will enter that class. The other representatives from Atlanta will be Messrs. Gordon Mitchell, Ben Phillips and Word Foot.

In the senior class will be only those who were there last year and passed from junior.

They are Messrs. P. D. Youngblood, Albert
Boylston and B. F. Pickett. In the junior class, too, there will be only those who return to the university from last year's work in the sophomore class. The juniors this year from Atlanta are Messrs. Black, Loundes Calhoun, Monte

Hirsch and Fred Lewis. Sophomores will be more numerous, as there are to be several new entries in this class be sides those present last year, who rise from the freshman class. Messrs. Park Howell and Hugh Dorsey, who were present last year, will return this fall. The new men who will cast destinies with the class and tread the well-beaten road, are Messrs. Charlie Nisbett, Harry Alexander, Phillip Breitenbucher, George Hilyer, Harry Love and Frank Liebman. Messrs. Henry W. Grady, Jr., and Will Armstrong will join hands with the freshman class in the arduous struggle, making twenty-one in all from Atlanta—just ten and one-half per cent of the entire number of students.

Last year, too, Atlanta boasted some of the best drilled men in the University battalion, and their success will soon be seen in the official appointments of the commandant.

One of last year's students, in speaking of the university yesterday, said:

"The people should not be deceived by impressions transmitted from previous genera-tions concerning the state of morals at the university. It seems truly that the sins of the father university have been visited upon the son. Could people see it as it is today, and realize that the impressions they have now were made by circumstances which occurred in the Central City. Macon, Ga., September 8.—[Special.]—Mr. J. G. Sullivan has resigned his position as time-keeper in the train master's office of the East Tennessee, to accept a position with the foreman of the Central shops at Macon. Mr. Sullivan has been succeeded by Mr. J. P. Webb, at one time clerk in the roadway department of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, at At-lanta, and late yard clerk of the East Tennes-Mr. H. C. Roberts, the new storekeeper of the Central railroad, at Macon, has arrived, and entered upon the discharge of his duties.

Mr. S. A. Wardlaw has been appointed yard-master of the East Tennessee road at Macon, Mr. R. A. Mr. Broyles is a self-inade man, and a native Georgian.

The Central's Tax Returns.

The Central's Tax Returns The Central railroad officials are surprised Wright, published in THE CONSTITUTION of 8d instant, accusing them of "supercilious indifference" to his demands for county tax gant tax upon them as a punishment. They state that the returns called for required the showing of the exact number of miles of main nd side track in each of the about fifty counties, and covered some 1,200 miles, owned by eight or nine corporations. The work was fully double that demanded of any other corporation in the state, and came at time when the clerical force was already crowded by the close of the fiscal year and all the statistics and reports demanded by stock-holders, the interstate commerce commisholders, the interstate commerce commission, and the railroad commissioners of three states. As soon as the blanks were received, Comptroller Wright was advised that the work of locating the county lines and measuring up the side tracks, etc., in each county, would require considerable time, to which he made no reply, and not a word was heard from him until August 22d, less than two weeks before his interview, when he wrote-to hurry them up. They were hurried up, but the temporary absence of the president, whose oath and signature were requisite on each return, prevented their final completion before the night of September 3d. Less than a year ago Mr. Wright wrote to the officer in charge of the Central's reports complimenting him upon the satisfactory nature of all his returns, and on the uniformly pleasant relations between them. Hence their surprise at such unjust accusations, especially as no preliminary comcusations, especially as no preliminary com plaint whatever had ever reached the execu-tive officer of the company. Reidsville Railroad Company.

An Atlanta gentleman, writing from Nashville

An Atlanta gentleman, writing from Nashville on September 4th, says:

Today being the birthday of Mrs. James K. Polk, she was receiving calls, and I, in company with one of my Nashville friends, had the pleasure of meeting her. She was today eighty-seven years old, but is a well-preserved and queenly old lady. She converses freely on the general topics of the day. She spoke of Mr. Bancroft as one of her old and only remaining acquaintances in Washington—said he was ninety years old, and remarked that she often heard from him, as they kept up regular correspondence. Mrs. Polk lives in a grand old home just south, and in full view, of the capitol. It occupies a full square and is a massive old brick building, surrounded on every side by large, Corinthian columns, giving it a grand and picturesque appearance. In the front yard, midway between the mansion and the street, is located the tomb containing the remains of her husband, the late president. On the monument is the following inscription:

"The mortal remains of James Knox Polk are resting in the vault beneath. He was born in Mecklenburg county. North Carolina, and emigrated with his father, Samnel Polk, to Tennessee, in 1806. The beauty of virtue was illustrated in his life. The excellency of Christianity was exemplified in his death."

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

THEY CONVENE IN REGULAR SES-SION LAST NIGHT.

An Interesting Communication from Acting Chief Wright, Recommending the Es-tablishing of a County Force.

The board of police commissioners held a regular monthly meeting last night. Commissioners Brown, Brotherton, Lester and Stephens were in their chairs when Chairman English announced ready for busi-

The meeting did not consume as much time as other meetings have consumed, but considerable business of interest was transacted. Only one trial was conducted, that of Acting Station House Keeper Slaughter and Special Officer Christophine, charged with searching a man not a prisoner.

Several days ago F. M. Stocks and a Mr. Timmons, of Spalding county, had a slight difficulty on Peters street. Mr. Stocks noti-fied the police that he believed Timmons had a pistol on him, and on this complaint Police-men Henry and Harris made the arrest. Mr. McGrau, who was with Timmons at the time he was arrested, accompanied him to the station honse, to see his friend through Timmons was searched, but no pistol was found. The officers thinking that he had passed it to McGrau, searched him for it, but ailed to find it upon him also. McGrau then made a case against Officers Slaughter and Christophine, who did the searching; on the ground that they acted without authority. The commissioners found that the officers had done nothing but their duty, and so finding, exonerated them from censure. Policing the Exposition.

Unless the city council makes a special appropriation for that purpose, the coming Pied-mont exposition will be devoid of police pro-

"I have received a communication from the Piedmont Exposition Company," said Captain English, "asking this board to relieve them of any expense in policing the exposition. Last year the company fed the men we sent out, and besides employed two detectives at their own expense, the council appropriating $2,500 for policing the grounds.

"Now," continued the captain, "I was about to reply to the communication that we would be unable to even give them police assistance this year unless the council made an appropriation, much less relieving the exposition company of the expense of feeding the men on duty at the grounds. According to the present condition of our funds we will have all we can do to take care of the city, What does the board think of the situation?

"I think we ought to notify the exposition company," said Mr. Stephens, "that we will not be able to give them any assistance at all as matters now stand."

Commissioner Brown disposed of the matter by putting it in the form of a motion, asking the exposition company to act in conjunction with the board of police commissioners to secure the needed appropriation from the conneil.

"We ought to have $3,000," said Commis sioner Brown. It should be understood too, that the exposition company feed the men as they did last year, and also, that they pay for the service of two detectives."

Commissioner Brown's motion was carried Unless the city council comes to the rescue he exposition will not be under strict police control.

Selling Reer at Little Switzerland. Dr. Charles D'Alvigny appeared before the board to make complaint of certain actings and doings at Little Switzerland near Grant

Dr. D'Alvigny, who has control of the privileges at Grant park, stated that visitors at that resort had been very much annoyed by drunken men turned out of Little Switzerland into the park. He said that, while Little Switzerland was within the city limits, beer was openly sold there unlawfully; that it was especially obnoxious on election days.
"I have been informed also," said Dr.

D'Alvigny in his statement to the board, special officer on duty at Little Switzerland is not doing his duty. Instead of arresting drunken parties he turns them out into the park. I am interested in the park and would like to have this attended to."

Dr. D'Alvigny presented Chairman English with a certificate from City Engineer Clayton, certifying that Little Switzerland was in the ncorporate limits.

Acting Chief Wright was instructed to in Acting Unief Wright was instructed to investigate the case.

This morning he will go to Little Switzerland, and a case will be made against the proprietors unless a city license is produced. The officer on duty there will also receive attention, and hereafter the regular park police will keep an eye on the place.

County Police.
Acting Chief Wright read the following communication to the board. It explains

ATLANTA, Ga., September 8, '90.—To the Honor able Board of Police Commissioners. Gentlemen I respectfully call your attention to the numerous calls on our department from the citizens just outside of the city limits to aid them in suppress-ing all kinds of crimes from loafing tramps to the worst kinds of thieves and burglars. These calls worst kinds of thieves and burgiars. These calls come to us every day, most from the following places and neighborhoods: Bellwood, Clark university, Brownsville, Pittsburg, Fath's park, Reynoldstown, Peachtree street and E. Van Winkle's shops. Now. If the county compark, Reynoldstown, Peachtree street and E. Van Winkle's shops. Now, if the county commissioners would ask the legislature to incorporate the county for police purposes, and furnish such number of men as are necessary, and place them under the control of the police commissioners, and give the recorder jurisdiction over the county cases as he has over the city cases, it would give our neighbors police protection at a very small cost. The time has certainly come when it is absolutely necessary for the county to do something in this direction, for they have several thousand people living all around just outside the city limits, who have no police protection. Now, if your honorable body can afford to take charge of the county's men, the county could certainly afford to flurnish and pay the necessary number of men when they take into consideration that the police department furnishes 34 per cent of all the criminal cases in both county and state courts, they being the prosecutors in each and every case, having been called on so many times from citiz's outside of ourljurisdiction, and thinking your honorable body might put some move on foot to protect the citizens from whom so many calls have come I am respectfully.

Acting Chief of Police.

"This is an important matter," said Chair-"This is an important matter," said Chairman English when the communication was "Yes," remarked Commissioner Brown, "it was before us once before, and it is time we took some action on the subject." "What is the sense of the board?" continue Chairman English.

"I move that the whole matter be left with the chairman," said Mr. Brown. "He to go the chairman," said Mr. Brown. "He to go before the council personally or by communication, and take whatever steps he deems necessary to carry into effect a portion or all of the suggestions in the acting chief's communication, if in his judgment the exigencies of the casejdemand it."

Cantain Wright's communication was cation, if in his judgment the exigencies of the caseldemand it."

Captain Wright's communication was a timely one. The people just beyond the city limits need some sort of police protection, and they ought to have it. The pslice commissioners are in full accord with lhe movement, and Captain English, in whose hands it lies, will see that something is done without unnecessary delay.

THE GREAT SALE

Will Continue Till the 30th-A Sweeping Reduction in OddiChina and Bric-a-Brac.

Dobbs, Wey & Co.'s sale of odd china still con tinues and is increasing in volume daily, as the people learn of the excellent bargains that are of fered, in good faith, at original cost. Everybody is satisfied, except some of our smaller compet tors, who complain, because the crowd of purchasers flock to our store. This we cannot help, and to make it more interesting, we will offer our entire line of Art Pottery and Bric-a-Brac on the same terms, until the close of this month. This collection consists of choice specimens of "Royal Worcester," "Old Hall," "Doulton's," "Royal Dresden," and of other celebrated factories of Europe. These goods are all of new styles and patterns, as is the china we are now slaughtering it is the natural result of our immense importing business, exceeding in volume that of all the firms in our line in the city combined, that we should have at the close of the season a great many odd sets and odd pieces, and to close these out in a hurry, we offer INDUCEMENTS in the way of LOW PRICES that MUST make them move.

We still have a large number of Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, Tea Sets, odd dozens Plates, Cups, Saucers, fancy pieces of china, white and decorated, ALL GOING AT COST while they last.

We are determined to clean out the entire lot before our new stock, now coming over, will be placed on the shelves. Remember, this sale closes with this month, so come in time for your share of the bargains. DOBBS, WEY & CO., 9-7-dtf No. 45 Peachtree Street.

Mr. W. B. Lowe, who spent some months in Europe for his health, returned a few days ago, much improved, and full of interesting inisences of what he saw and heard.

Library Notes.

The book issue for August showed a gain of 378 over August of 1889. Six over August of 1839.

Sixty new members were elected at the last meeting; of these, fifty-five were presented by Mr. Slaton, who has completed his list of 200 and commenced on another hundred.

The library numbers now nearly 900 members, including life members. With Atlanta's population, it ought to number at least 2,000 active members.

The new term begins with October. All who can afford to do so, should send in their names in three less the October meeting of the board.

Mrs. James R. Holliday Passes Away After a Short Illness. Mrs. James R. Holliday, nee Miss Mamie Otis, is dead!

A SAD DEATH.

This announcement yesterday carried sad-ness to the hearts of the host of friends who knew admired and loved her.

But a few days ago she was the picture of health and happiness. But death came, and but a few days ago she was the picture of health and happiness. But death came, and today the last pathetic requiem will be chanted over her bier.

Thursday she was taken ill, but her illness was not of such a nature as to cause any fore-boding of the fatal results that followed, and up to II o'clock Sunday she was rapidly convalescing.

Then the physicians, who had been in constant attendance, began to look grave, and at I o'clock the crisis came.

There was no hope!

She continued to grow worse until 2:45 o'clock yesterday morning, when her pure young spirit took its flight.

The shock was a grevious one, and none but those who knew her best and appreciated the beautiful qualities of her perfect womanhood, can ever understand the poignant grief of those who watched the ending of her bright young life.

Hers was the promise of the full perfection of womanhood, the splendid realization of which the touch of the cold hand of the death angel alone prevented.

On the 14th of March, twenty-one years ago which the total of the cold hand of the death angel alone prevented.

On the 14th of March, twenty-one years ago she was born in Augusta, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Otis. From her childhood she began to develop those lovely trits that were just ripening into full fruition when the end came.

Her parents removed to this city several years ago and her brilliant intellect was

Her parents removed to this city several years ago, and her brilliant intellect was given every advantage in the way of scholastic training at the school of the Convent of the Immaculate Conception, where she fin ished her education four years ago.

On November 27, 1889, she was wedded to Mr. James R. Holliday, a well-known young journafist, then private secretary to Mr. Henry W. Grady, and now one of the proprietors of The Southern Farm.

It was the realization of a love dream, and never did a young couple begin life under happier auspices.

never did a young couple begin life under happier auspices.

After a short wedding tour they returned to the city and began life in their lovely home, No. 425 South Pryor street.

Their short married life was one of uninterrupted biiss, and its sad termination yesterday was a heartrending blow to the husband, who idolized her, and others to whom she was so near and dear.

In October last her father died, and now, for the second time within a year, the bereaved mother's heart is bowed in grief inconsolable over the loss of her loved ones.

McCarthy's Mishaps.

Those who want a good hearty laugh will do well to see "McCarthy's Mishaps," which will be presented at matinee and at night by a first-class troupe of comedians next Wednesday. The Philadelphia Item thus appreciated the play:

"Seldom has any production received such an ovation as did 'McCarthy's Mishaps,' which was presented last night before a large audience. Though without a plot, the piece provokes continual laughter. The many Indicrous situations, with the numerous grotesque characters, went to make up one of the funniest entertainments seen for a long time. Barney Ferguson, as 'Dennis McCarthy,' plays the Irisman to life. His makeup, coupled with his peculiar broque, was sufficient to create side-splitting laughter. As 'McGinnis,' John Mack is infinitable. He makes a good second to Ferguson and is capable of a better part."

ON THE PREMISES.

Three of the lots are 25x100 feet each and one is 27x100 feet, 8 foot alley in the rear of all. Each lot will be offered with the privilege of the adjoining lot at the same price, so that any one objecting to a 25-foot front lot, can bid with the positive assurance of controlling 59 feet front at the same price per lot, should he wish to do so. The property is only five blocks from the Kimball house, and there is great demand for small resi-dence lots so centrally located. Very few are to be had, and those wishing one will find it to their interest to attend this sale. Belgian blocks sidewalk, water, gas and sewerage are already in front of the property and paid for, and the purchaser at this sale will never be called upon for a cent for street improvements. There is no section of the city where property rents better than right here, and you could make no better investment in Atlanta rent-paying property than to buy the four lots and erect thereon a duplicate of the blocks of either Mr. Robert Winship or John M. Hill, of either Mr. Robert Winship or John M. Hill, just this side of the property. Central vacant property is scarce, and is the best, safest and surest property you can put your money in. These lots are just one block from the Peachtree car line and the same distance from the Courtland street electric car line. Every lot offered will be sold to the highest bidder. Call and get a plat. Sale begins promptly at 4 o'clock. Be there on time. Terms cash. SAM'L W. GOODE & CO.

TO THOSE SEEKING AN INVESTMENT IN SUBURBAN PROPERTY.

SUBURBAN PROPERTY.

We wish to call your attention to an investment in a large tract of land on Howell's Mill road, which is offered at a low price for a few days only. It is right in the line of the many improvements already made and to be made between Atlanta and the river. It has a beautiful front of 3,000 feet on the road and lies well. Is just the right distance from the city at which to buy to get the best profit. Howell's Mill road has recently been changed from one of the roughest to the best road in Fulton county. Heavy cuts and fills have been made and the road splendidly paved. No objectionable features or surroundings. You can take this alone or a number of gentlemen can take it together. The price is far below what you can buy any other tract equally well situated, and the property is an unusually attractive one. It will pay you to call and get full particulars and inspect it. There is money to be made by acting promptly.

$1.250 is what the choice Forest avenue lot, 50x150, can be bought. It lies well, is in a splendid neighborhood that is already nicely built up with nice houses, has a ten-foot alley in the rear and is decidedly the best vacant lot on the north side for the money. Terms reasonable.

A DOUBLE BIGAMIST,

SUSPECTED OF MURDERING THE WIFE HE MARRIED IN GE PRGIA,

Was Rearrested Yesterday and Will Be Tried for Bigamy in South Carolina— Another Wife in North Carolina.

J. F. Hawley, a white man, is a double-bigmist and in a hard row of stumps.

He has just finished a term in the Georgia penitentiary, his time being up yesterday, and is now on his way to another trial for bigamy, is now on his way to another trial for bigamy, this time in South Carolina.

And still hanging over his head is another charge of bigamy in North Carolina.

The man's matrimonial history, so far as it known, is something unique. It begins with his marriage into a respecta-ble family in North Carolina. Hawley lived with this wife about one year. Then he skipped.

The next chapter concerns his marriage to a very estimable young lady in South Carolina. He lived with this wife about a year and then he skipped again.

His next marriage was in Decatur county, this state. This wife died suddenly and Haw ley was suspected of having poisoned her. He never admitted it, however, and the evidence was not sufficient to convict him.

The investigation brought out the fact, though, that Hawley had a living wife in North Carolina, and this in turn finally brought out the fact that he had a living wife in South Carolina.

He was tried in Georgia and sentenced to four years for bigamy.

His time was up yesterday, As soon as Hawley was released he was arrested upon a warrant from South Carolina. The arrest upset him terribly.

It happened at the camp of the Chatta-hoochee Brick Company, where the manytimes married man has been serving his term with Fleming, the blind bigamist, and others. The queerest part of the whole thing is that Hawley, anticipating no further trouble for his past misdeeds, had made his preparations, by correspondence, for another courtship and

Just how the correspondence began does not appear. The young lady is of good family, but credulous to a notable degree. Hawley wrote that he had extensive possessions in Florida, and elsewhere: and made love seriously. He informed her that he had on his hands at present a large contract for making brick, but as soon as this business would permit-which he believed would be about the 8th of September—he would pay his respects in person and make further arrangements.

The young lady's escape from matrimony is a peculiarly fortunate one, and it will doubt-less teach a lesson not soon to be forgotten. THE PEABODY SCHOLARSHIPS.

Four of the Successful Ones Are Young

Judge Hook furnishes the following list of the successful competitors for the four and a half scholarships in the Peabody Normal College, at Nashville, Tenn., lately contested for by the fifty odd applicants in the

"After a careful and particular examination of all the papers of the several applicants, and ascertaining their respective merits as ex-hibited therein, and giving due weight to the suggestion made in "Circular of Information" VIII., 5, issued under the authority of the general agent, touching the award of scholar-ships, I have selected, and hereby appoint the following as duly entitled to fill said vacancies: Miss Josie W. Clarke, Esom Hill, Ga.; Mr. Columbus L. Gunnels, Banksville, Ga.; Miss Florence McKemie, West Point, Ga.; Miss Turnbull, Tugalo, Ga. "This latter young lady, I assign to the one year of Miss Lollie C. Foute's unexpired term. The other four are entitled to two years each

Maggie Brown, Newnan, Ga.; Miss Mamie

"It is a matter of regret with me, that where so many applicants have acquitted themselves so well, that I did not have more scholarships at my disposal to be contested for. I am quite sure that several of those who have now failed will enced in next year's contest when there will succeed in next year's contest, when there will succeed in next year's contest, when there will be at least ten scholarships to fill.

"Those who can make it convenient to go now, and pay their board for one year, shall, upon letting me know at once that they wish it, have my certificate which will admit them into the college free of an entrance examination."

A RECEIVER APPOINTED.

Failure of the Firm of Jeter & Camp Yesterday.

An application for a receiver for the assets of the firm of Jeter & Camp was heard by Judge Marshall J. Clarke yesterday. The application was granted, and Mr. R. M. Farrar, of the Merchants' bank, was ap-

So far it has been impossible to get more than a rough estimate of the liabilities of the firm which are from $15,000 to $18,000.

The largest creditor is probably the Mer-chants' bank, which holds claims to the amount of about $8,000.

The other claims are divided up among a number of creditors, one of which is the Georgia Soap Company, which filed, through its attorneys, Messrs. Carter & Rosser, the application for the receiver.

The assets are not definitely known, but are supposed to be about equal, all told, to the liabilities. Messrs. Jeter & Camp were dealers in crockery and house-furnishing goods, and were suc cessors to Jeter, Malone & Camp, which firm succeeded Thomas & Jeter, at No. 100 White hall street.

They did a large business in their line, and are one of the best known and are one of the best known firms in the city. The failure was due to short collections and other business complications, unavoidable vicissitudes of the trade.

They are both gentlemen, held in the highest esteem, and all who know them will sympathize with them in their embarrassment.

It is thought that they will be able to make a full and satisfactory settlement of their affairs so soon as the business can be wound up. Mr. Farrar took charge yesterday.

The Liver

When out of order, involves every organ of the body. Remedies for some other derangement are frequently taken without the least effect, because it is the liver which is the real source of the trouble, and until that is set right there can be no health, strength, or comfort in any part of the system. Mercury, in some form, is a common specific for a sing-gish liver; but a far safer and more effective medicine is After discussion, Mr. Plumb modified his amendment by making it apply to all whiskies hereafter produced or withdrawn from bond.

A vote was taken and the amendment rejected. Yeas, 17: nays, 39.

Mr. Vance moved to reduce the duty on card clothing (paragraph 153) from 50 to 25 cents per square foot. Rejected.

The sugar section was then taken up, the immediate subject under consideration being the finance committee's amendment to paragraph 223, impesing duties on all sugars above No. 13 Dutch standard.

graph 223, impesing duties on all sugars above No. 13 Datch standard.

Mr. Sherman argued against the amendment and in favor of the house proposition, which would allow all sugars under No. 16 Dutch standard (including good qualities of brown sugar largely used by the people) to come in free of duty.

The amendment was agreed to. Yeas, 39; pages 12.

nays, 12.

The next vote was on the senate amendment to the same paragraph, increasing the duty on sugars above No. 16, six-tenths of one cent per pound, instead of four-tenths, as in the house hill.

Mr. Allison opposed the committee amendment and favored the house proposition.

The amendment was agreed to. Yeas, 29; Mr. Quay offered an amendment proposed

Mr. Quay offered an amendment proposed by him on the 1st of August, fixing duties between No. 13 and No. 16 at three-tenths of 1 cent per pound; between No. 16 and No. 20 at ix-tenths, and above No. 20 at 1 cent.

Mr. Quay's amendment was rejected. The proviso in paragraph 223, in case of an export duty imposed by any country, sugars from that country shall be subject to duties under the existing law, was withdrawn by the finance committee after its effect had been explained. The finance committee's amendment to include maple sugar among those for which bounty is to be paid was agreed to. Yeas, 30; nays 25.

Mr. Eustis moved to amend the amendment so as to extend it to machinery for beet and

The amendment gave rise to a good deal o The amendment gave rise to a good deal of discussion, the two Louisiana senators asserting that cane sugar and beet sugar machinery were the same—the two Nebraska senators asserting a contrary idea, and Mesers. Mr. Reagan complained of exhibitions of sectionalism, illustrated in the pending amendment, and in the high duties imposed on cotton ties, while binding-twine was put on the free list. But it was useless, he said, to expect justice.

Mr. Blair reproved Mr. Reagan for the imputation upon the northern people, and upon the government to which he owed his life.

"The senator from Texas," Mr. Blair said,

"The senator from Texas," Mr. Blair said, "was indulging in a whine when he ought to be exercising his thankfulness."

Mr. Gorman said that the assertion that the south was discriminated against in the tariff bill, was true in every line, and he thought that Mr. Blair's taunt about the generosity of the government in sparing the lives of southern senators was not manly, and was not one that might be expected from him, and now republican senators advocated free machinery from Austria, and confined that provision to machinery to be used in the northwest, refusmachinery to be used in the northwest, refus-ing it to the south.

Without coming to a vote Mr. Aldrich said he would try and have all amendments voted on tonight, so as to have the bill at the stage of third reading temorrow morning. He also gave notice that he would (for the committee) offer an amendment that the bill shall take effect on the 1st of October, 1890.

A LAUGH IN THE HOUSE

When It Was Found That the Maine Delegation Was Missing.

Washington, September 8.—In the house, prior to reading the journal, Mr. Anderson, of Kansas, raised the point of no quorum. The effort of the speaker to count a quorum proving unavailing, a call of the house was ordered. The call disclosed the presence of 156 members, and the sergeant-at-arms was dispatched after absortees. after absentees.

Mr. Cummings, of New York, raised a laugh by a request that the Maine delegation be excused on account of political illness. [Every member of this delegation was absent.]

the journal of Saturday's proceedings read and approved.

On motion of Mr. Crain, of Texas, a bill was passed to create a port of entry at Eagle Pass, Texas, instead of at Indianola, Texas.

On motion of Mr. Evans, of Tennessee, a joint resolution was passed granting the use of a portion of the United States military reservation at Chattanooga, Tenn., for a public bark.

The floor was then accorded to the commit-tee on the district of Columbia, the pending question being one to recommit the Atkinson bill with instructions to report it back with an amendment requiring the Baltimore and Potomac railway to remove its depot in Washington to the intersection of Maryland and Virginia avenues.

Virginia avenues.

A inotion to recommit was lost—yeas, 42; aays, 113—the clerk noting querum.

Under the rules, this vote, without further action, recommitted the bill to the committee of the whole, and Mr. Atkinson thereupon moved that the house go into such committee. The motion was agreed to.

The entire afternoon was consumed in consideration of the measure; but when the committee rose and reported the bill to the house with favorable recommendation, the quorum had vanished, and the house, at 5:30, adjourned.

The Remarkable Accident That Happened THE SENATE IS CLOSING UP THE to a Miner From Butte City.

to a Miner From Butte City.

From the Tacoma Ledger.

A peculiar, painful and extremely annoying mishap befell William H. Harper of Butte City last night. Mr. Harper is a miner who arrived in Tacoma yesterday morning from the east, accompanied by an abnormal appetite for strong drink and a large, luxuriant beard, of which he is very proud. After depositing his baggage in a South Railroad street lodging house, Mr. Harper started out to see the sights, taking his appetite and beard along. During the course of the day he took several drinks which his rugged system craved, and would have prolonged the festivities until far into the night. But at 9 o'clock a kindly disposed stranger steered the inebriated miner to his lodging house and put him into his room. Several Important Amendments to the Sugar Washington, September 8.—The conference report on the river and harbor appropriation was taken up in the senate and agreed to, without discussion, and without a yea and may vote.

The tariff bill was taken up; debate on the bill and amendments to be limited to thirty stranger steered the inebriated miner to his lodging house and put him into his room.

Here Mr. Harper attempted to light the gas. The jet was suspended from the celling in the center of the room, and in reaching up the drunken man dropped the burning match into his flowing whiskers, rendered highly inflammable by the liquor spilled into them during the day. With a wild howl the gentleman from Butte dashed out into the hall with his face and head blazing like a campaign torch.

"For God's sake, put me out," yelled the unfortunate man as he dashed back and forth along the hall, clawing madly at the flames with his hands, and nearly stilled.

A man in the next room heard the cries and came flying out with rare presence of mind and a bowl of water, which he poured on Mr. Harper's head. An instant later the hotel porter arrived with a large and very dusty door mat, with which he succeeded in effectually subduing the conflagration. Mr. Harper was also quite subduel for much better descriptions. Changes or amendments in the bill, reported by Mr. Aldrich from the finance committee, were made as follows: Adding to paragraph the conflagration. Mr. Harper was also quite subdued for such a hotheaded man, and wanted to know if an alarm had been turned in before he realized just what had happened. Instead of sending for the fire department a doctor was called in, who anointed the sufferer's giorified face with linseed oil and lime water. In addition to his hair and whiskers, Mr. Harper also lost his eyebrows and several patches of skin, besides one night's sleep that he had paid for in advance, but he is in a fair way to recover and will be all right in a few days. It is said that he will imme-diately return to Butte City to raise a new crop

Exchange.

NEW YORK, September 8.—The stock market

NEW YORK, September 8.—The stock market today has possessed more animation than usual of late, but the activity has been caused by the same hammering operations which gave to the market nll the life it possessed last week, and in a few stocks there were sharp declines, while the remainder of list shows only slight changes as the result of today's operations. The action of the secretary of the treasury in offering to prepay interest on four per cents for the coming year gave terest on four per cents for the coming year gave a check to the increasing aggressiveness of the bears and the move was considered a good one in all directions and one likely to have the desired effect upon the money market. The slow response to the last offer to redeem four and one-half per cents and the continued low state of New York bank reserves, which have now shown a defeit from the requirements of the twenty-five per cent rule for four weeks in succession, made it imperative that something should be done to meet the demand of currency to the interior which seems to have aggregated a larger sum than usual this year. The long continued scarcity of money in this market restricts the business done in stocks to the smallest limits, would-be buyers holding off until the financial atmosphere shall become a little clearer, and while holders retain their grip upon their securities most tenaciously the lack of buyers gives the bears courage to make vigorous demonstrations against certain stocks more vulnerable than the rest of the list. Gran-gers are now in this position and pressure upon the Burlington and Quincy was again resumed this morning and notwithstanding the fact that the circular of the treasury department in regard to the prepayment of interest upon four per cents was the occasion of the opening market up from one fourth to seven eighths per cent, ma terial losses were afterward brought about in Burterial losses were afterward brought about in Bur-lington and other grangers; Chicago gas, Union Pacific and specialties. The market became more active and weaker in the afternoon, when most material losses were sustained and the only strong feature in the room was sugar refineries, which made a spurt at two per cent on favorable rumors from Washington about action upon the sugar schedule. There was no news of a character to bring about any liquidation of long accounts and there is no evidence that holders have given way to any extent, but the drive was severe against late weak stocks and the extreme loss in Burling ton was three per cent. Dealings showed a great amount of feverishness throughout, but the downward movement really ceased only with the close of business, which was quiet but weak at about the lowest prices of today. Sales aggre

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, September 8—[Special]—The rumbings of an unfavorable bureau report commenced to be heard as far away as Liverpool this morning, and early cables from there reported an advance of 2@3 points all along the entire line.

The near positions are, however, the strongest relatively, and it is reported that they are oversold, and are being quietly accumulated by strong par-ties hitherto supposed to be sellers of them. Spot sales are only 7,000 bales, but our cables lead us to sales are only 7,000 bales, but our cables lead us to expect a better demand tomorrow. This market opened higher than Saturday by about 4 points on September, but receipts, that promised to be about 30,000 bales and turned out to be 28,000 bales, had twire offect, which, in conjunction with a savage attack on September, carried the market back. It soon became evident, however, that the market was about sold out, and, as the southern port markets came in higher, and the official version of the Georgia state report proved to be 81, against 90 Georgia state report proved to be 81, against 90 last year, but little assistance was needed to close the market firm at the highest of the day. The lines of the bull speculators are now becoming somewhat more distinctly drawn, and a bureau report 2 per cent below last year's average of 86.6 would doubtless add many adherents to the party in favor of higher prices, while on the other hand the short interest is much increased, and is ob-viously growing more nervous. They appreciate that, notwithstanding the efforts of the bulls to hift the market on rejorts of frost at Sioux City, Iowa.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, September 8—Wheat—A fair business was transacted in a speculative way with very little doing in shipping or milling account. The feeling developed was rather firm early in the session, and prices advanced %c above the opening figures, but an easy feeling set in, and prices de-clined 1%@1%c, held steady and closed about 1½c lower than Saturday. Fine weather in England and lower cables had a tendency to create a quiet and tame opening, but reports of frost in the northwest, and some unfavorable news from that quarter, caused the rally alluded to. Then followed a decline, influenced by liberal speculative offerings. A prominent local trader sold freely, and others followed and did likewise. It was principally a local market, outside news being scarce and not of a character to have a very telling effect upon the market.

Corn—There was a fair trade, mostly in May, within a %@%c range. The feeling on the whole was steadier, but the free selling of two prominent local traders, who have sold largely of late, had a sold up some, reacting %c, advanced %c, broke quickly and closed with a slight loss.

Oats were quiet and easy, trading being moder-ate and mainly local, a heavy operator trading on both sides of the market to such an extent that price changes were confined to a 7/3c range. Mess pork—Trading was moderately active early, and prices ruled about 5c higher. Later the market weakened, accompanied with a reduction of 15 (a) 17½c, but toward the close prices rallied 5@7½c.

Lard was moderately active. There were no changes of moment in the prices.

Short ribs—There was a moderate trade. Early sales were made at a slight advance, but more lib sales were made at a slight advance, but more liberal offerings caused an easy feeling temporarily, and prices receded 21/425c. The market closed at medium figures.
